PASSENGERS OF CHARLOTTE NOW AT WRANGELL

Transported From Scene of Stranding by Survey Vessel Explorer

Ss. Princess Alice Leaves Vancouver to Bring Passengers South

Wrangell, Alaska, Aug. 31.—Weary and damp after hurriedly being put ashore in the inky darkness of a foggy night, the passengers of the disabled and leaking steamer Princess Charlotte, which struck Vichniefski Rock, twenty miles from here at the South Entrance of treacherous Wrangell Narrows, were brought here to-day by the coast and jetty survey vessel Explorer.

The Charlotte, which floated about midnight, was being towed here at the rate of two miles an hour, by the fishing tug Kuchak of the Alaska Packing Company, assisted by a fleet of Petersburg shrimp boats.

The damage to the Charlotte was undetermined, although it was known that the outer plates were buckled, the loading of the oil tanks and engine room, putting the engines out of commission.

None of the passengers were hurt in the accident, and all were transferred to the beach and later to the Explorer without panic. Many prominent tourists were aboard the boat and included the Lieutenant-Colonel Sir Godfrey Sympley White, a member of the British House of Commons, and Lady White and their two children.

The cutters Unalak and Cygnus as well as the steamer Salvage King are en route to the scene of the wreck.

The steamer Princess Alice was dispatched from Vancouver to bring the Charlotte's passengers south.

SEARCH MADE FOR AVIATOR REDFERN

Reports of Plane Seen Over Venezuela Strengthen Hopes For Georgia Flier

Brunswick, Ga., Aug. 31.—The slender thread of hope that has sustained watchers here in the belief that Paul E. Redfern is safe was strengthened today by a report from the Government of Venezuela that an aeroplane had been sighted last Saturday over the delta of the Orinoco River in Venezuela, some distance off the route of his flight to Brazil.

The first report received from Caracas Monday that natives had sighted a plane flying southwesterly over the Orinoco delta was substantiated to some extent by another report from the Government telegraph operator at Ciudad Bolivar that a plane had been seen flying over the village of Macareo the same afternoon.

GASOLINE SUPPLY

Both reports placed the time of sighting at about 3 o'clock, in which case Redfern's gasoline supply, estimated to last not more than fifty-five hours, would have been nearly exhausted and he would have had to land within a short time. At 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon he would have been in the air fifty-two hours.

He took off from an island near here for his solo flight to Brazil.

Reports of the alleged murder of A. E. Leach, a fisheries officer, near Tofino, west coast of Vancouver Island, are in the hands of Provincial Police headquarters here today. Although no information of a definite character is in the hands of the officers here, official word of the suspected murder is momentarily expected, as Provincial Constables Wood and Monks have been dispatched from Alberni to investigate.

As far as headquarters here knows, the body was found in a launch and an inquest was arranged. The finding of the inquest was that "the deceased died of a heart attack, the cause of which was not ascertained."

It is understood that the body was found some time yesterday and that the inquest was held yesterday afternoon.

Inspector T. W. S. Parsons and Superintendent H. McMillin were at Nanaimo when the report from Tofino reached there and word was not forwarded to Victoria until this afternoon.

3,500,000 LETTERS AND 100,000 TELEGRAMS SENT TO COL. C. A. LINDBERGH

New York, Aug. 31.—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh can have $1,000,000 by going through a real marriage ceremony in front of a movie camera and $6,000,000 more by accepting the business offers tendered since he made his solo non-stop transatlantic aeroplane flight, says Commander Fitzhugh Green, the "Lone Eagle's" chief secretary, in Popular Science Monthly.

Commander Green, who has completed a check-up on mail and other communications to Lindbergh, says that among the 3,500,000 letters and 100,000 telegrams and cables received, were at least three proposals that the young flier join in an attempt to reach

GERMAN AIRMEN FUEL PLANE FOR EARLY START FOR THIS CONTINENT

Dessau, Germany, Aug. 31.—The Junkers transatlantic aeroplane Bremen was rolled to the runway here at 4.55 o'clock this afternoon and the work of refueling it was immediately started. It was reported likely it might start for the United States about 6.30 p.m., carrying Friedrich Loos, Herman Koehls and Ex-Baron von Huenfeld.

VIERKOETTER LEADS SWIMMERS IN LONG LAKE ONTARIO RACE

Toronto, Aug. 31.—The positions of the leading swimmers in the $50,000 Lake Ontario Marathon at 5 p.m. was:

- 1—Vierkoetter, Germany, two miles in the lead.
- 2—Georges Michel, France.
- 3—Ethel Hurtle, New York.
- 4—Mendell Burdett, Toronto.

The shuffle in the positions of second, third and fourth swimmers were due to their taking nourishment.

Toronto, Aug. 31.—Swimming forty-eight strokes to the minute, Ernest Vierkoetter, German baker, retained a commanding lead of approximately two miles over Mendell Burdett of Toronto, the nearest swimmer, in the $50,000 Lake Ontario twenty-one-mile swim at 3.30 this afternoon. Vierkoetter's strokes were not so impressive as the afternoon advanced, as he neared the thirteen-mile mark, but his handlers reported he was swimming with ease in the cold.

Such veterans as Georges Michel, another English Channel victor; Ethel Hurtle, New York's remarkable girl swimmer; Howard Chafes of Ventura, Cal.; Peter Meyer, Cincinnati, and William Erickson of New York, the endurance hero of the Lake St. George swim, were challenging his fight for victory.

The dramatic incident of the swim so far was the withdrawal of George Young, victor of Calatinita and favorite to win the race. After leading for more than four miles, Young was overtaken and passed by Vierkoetter, and a few minutes later collapsed and had to be taken from the water.

"Dad, I can't stay in the race for a hundred yards more," he gasped to his manager. "If I do I'll kill myself."

Mendell Burdett of Toronto was carrying on pluckily and some distance behind, Ethel Hurtle of New York was displaying wonderful strength and more than holding her own with the leaders. Miss Hurtle's performance excited tremendous interest, and the air resounded with cheers as she skirted the shore on the start of her second time around the triangle.

TWO-MILE LEAD
Toronto, Aug. 31.—With a little more than one-third of the twenty-one-mile course covered, Ernest Vierkoetter of Germany had established a two-mile lead in the $50,000 Lake Ontario swim at 1 p.m. to-day. Officially his time for eight miles was four hours, twenty seconds. With George Young, Toronto, out of the race, the contention was supplied by Byron Summers of California and Mendell Burdett of Toronto, second and third, respectively. They were swimming strongly, but (Continued on page 3)

Dispatches from Peking yesterday said the British Legation had asked the Chinese Foreign Office to investigate the fate of the white men, following receipt of an official message saying "three Europeans" had been slain near the Tibet border by tribesmen.

The party is said to have chosen the shorter route through interior China, deeming the coastwise trip too dangerous, although there were warnings of anti-foreign sentiment in central China.

Levine May Fly East From Britain

London, Aug. 31.—Charles A. Levine will abandon his plans for a westward flight over the Atlantic in his monoplane, the Columbia, with Capt. W. G. Hinchcliffe as pilot, if the British aviators, Hamilton and Minchin, succeed in their present attempt, he told the Associated Press this morning.

He indicated he had in mind an alternative flight, which might consist of an attempt to break the long distance and endurance records, flying toward the East.

Wishing the British fliers "all the luck in the world," he paid tribute to their courage in starting in the face of unfavorable weather reports.

"There are other long distance flights to be made which will be as great endurance tests as the Atlantic hop," he said.

The victim came here a year ago from Vancouver, B.C., where the parents reside.

PITCHED BALL HIT PLAYER AT BAT

CAPT. F. A. LEYFIELD DIES IN VANCOUVER

Forty-four Years of Age; Served in Europe During World War

Vancouver, Aug. 31.—Captain F. A. Leyfield, M.S.M., forty-four, died here this morning.

He was a native of Birmingham, Eng. Captain Leyfield went overseas in 1914 with Elliott's Horse, an irregular cavalry troop mobilized at Victoria. Upon reaching England the men were absorbed into other units, and Captain Leyfield joined the Royal Artillery, with which he served from September 4, 1914, till February, 1915. He was mentioned in dispatches in 1916 and was awarded the Meritorious Service Medal the same year.

Upon returning to Vancouver he became identified with the First B.C. Regiment (7th Battalion, C.E.F.) in 1919, and eventually became its adjutant.

He leaves a widow.

The funeral will be a military one.

New York, Aug. 31.—Mrs. Leslie Hamilton, wife of the British aviator who with two companions started a transatlantic flight from England to Ottawa to-day, suddenly left New York for Ottawa at 9.30 o'clock this morning. She had previously consented to be interviewed here at 10 a.m.

MINOR HELPED HERSELF, LANG DEFENCE SAYS

Lang Not in Room When Girl Took Drink; Charge He Supplied Minor

Police court proceedings against Archibald Lang, charged with supplying liquor to a minor, Miss Dorothy, were concluded this morning with an adjournment until Tuesday to allow Magistrate Jay to make a decision on the case.

Following the testimony of several witnesses, among them William Fraser Tolmie, charged with manslaughter, and whose case will be heard at the Police court holding brief for the day, the court adjourned.

Lang, moved for dismissal of the charge on which the charge was founded. When Mr. Harrison, city prosecutor, called Mr. F. Tolmie as a witness, Oscar Brown counsel holding brief for the witness, rose to object. The events upon which Mr. Tolmie might be required to give evidence might prejudice his case before a judge and jury, said counsel. Unless his evidence was vital to the case, counsel asked that he be given exemption. Pointing out the difference between Tolmie, and that against Lang, Mr. Brown urged that in the interests of justice Mr. Harrison should give the protection of the court, which he sought.

Mr. Harrison did not see how the truth could possibly prejudice Mr. Tolmie's case.

"If I had thought that this would hurt him I should not have called him," said the prosecutor.

Mr. Brown was not at all satisfied, but Mr. Harrison bade Mr. Harrison proceed with his examination of the witness.

TELLS OF MEETING
Mr. Harrison—Do you remember the evening of July 25?

Witness—Yes.

Mr. Harrison—Did you see Lang on that night?

Witness—Somewhere around 11.30 or 12 o'clock.

Mr. Harrison—Where did you see him?

Witness—In the Douglas Hotel.

Mr. Harrison—After you got to his room, what happened?

Witness—We had a drink of gin and then sat there conversing for a while.

Witness went on to state that Miss Jean Coddington, who was a passenger in his machine when it was wrecked on Rockland Avenue and who subsequently died of injuries received, to gether with Miss Dorothy Officer, had been invited to Lang's room.

Mr. Moreby called a halt and asked for a clear explanation of how the girls were invited. Lang had invited them to the room through the elevator boy, witness said.

Mr. Harrison (continuing examination)—Was there a table in that room?

Witness—A dressing table. Yes.

Mr. Harrison—Was there anything on the table?

Witness—There was some gin and glasses on the table.

Witness went on to tell how, when Miss Officer and Miss Coddington came to the room, and how Miss Officer had poured three drinks. She and Miss Coddington drank them, but the third was left on the table. Mr. Moreby had an objection, but it was cleared up the matter when he stated that the third drink was left on the table untouched, and that he did not know (Continued on page 9)

WORLD PLANE IS TO-DAY AT CONSTANTINOPLE

Flight Made by E. F. Schlee and Pilot Brock From Belgrade to Turkey

Pair to Fly by Way of Baghdad to Bandar Abbas, Persia

Constantinople, Aug. 31.—The round-the-world monoplane Fride of Detroit arrived here from Belgrade, Yugoslavia, at 11.45 o'clock this morning.

A large crowd gathered at the flying field to witness the landing of the aircraft. They brought their machine to earth gracefully after circling the field several times.

Brock and Schlee jumped briskly out of the plane, showing little signs of the ordeal they have been through so far.

From Constantinople the fliers will follow a route to Aleppo, Syria, through Baghdad, Iraq, and thence to Bandar Abbas, Persia, on the way to India.

THE START
Paris, Aug. 31.—The monoplane Fride of Detroit, in which Edward F. Schlee, Detroit businessman, and William S. Brock, pilot, are making a flight around the world, hopped off from Belgrade at 4.30 o'clock this morning for Constantinople, the Havas Agency was advised.

Although heavily loaded, the monoplane took off easily and rapidly, and was followed by a pursuit squadron from the Belgrade aviation field.

WINDSOR PLANE READY TO START

Windsor, Ont., Aug. 31.—The plane Royal Windsor, with "Duke" Schiller as pilot and Phil Wood as navigator, was expected to hop off here on its non-stop flight to Windsor, England, late this afternoon. Both aviators announced they were ready and only reports of a storm would make them change their minds.

R. MacIntosh's Plane Is Tuned up For Atlantic Flight

Lymnne, Eng., Aug. 31.—Captain Robert MacIntosh's Pucker aeroplane, in which he hopes to fly across the Atlantic from England, arrived here at 12.15 o'clock this afternoon from Rotterdam, piloted by Maurice Piercy.

Westerly winds and a generally decided improvement in the weather from the British Isles almost to the Grand Banks were reported by Dr. H. Kimball, those weather expert of the United States weather bureau here, to-day.

Captain Leslie Hamilton, Lieut.-Colonel F. F. Minchin and ex-Princess Lowenstein-Wertheim, flying from Upavon, Eng., to Ottawa, will encounter head winds blowing from the west, but according to Dr. Kimball those winds probably will not be very strong.

OPIMUM TRIAL SOON IN TERMINAL CITY

Vancouver, Aug. 31.—Formal commitment of Lam Jim, charged by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police with selling opium, was made by Magistrate Shaw in police court here to-day.

It was agreed by counsel for the defence that the evidence taken in one case would be applicable to a second charge which is held against the accused and which will be tried in the higher court.

DIRIGIBLE STATION IS TO BE BUILT NEAR MONTREAL

Ottawa, Aug. 31.—Hon. J. L. Ralston, Minister of National Defence, announced to-day that negotiations for the purchase of a parcel of land near Montreal, containing approximately one square mile for the site of a dirigible mooring mast had been practically completed.

The site selected was recommended by Major G. H. Scott and A. R. Gibbs, officers of the British Air Ministry, who visited Canada in the early summer of 1926.

It is on the south shore of the St. Lawrence River, six miles from the centre of Montreal, approximately four miles from the Longueuil Ferry wharf and adjacent to St. Hubert Station on the main line of the Canadian National Railway. It is part of an open, level plain, well drained, of good surface and in every way suitable, according to the Minister.

POLICE INSPECTOR'S DEATH INVESTIGATED

Inquest on Body of H. Townsend Held in Regina Following Police Inquiry

Regina, Aug. 31.—Following a protest of the city police that the inquest held at the Mounted Police barracks here Monday on the death of Inspector H. Townsend did not meet with legal requirements, a new jury under Dr. Kells was summoned yesterday.

The body was viewed and the inquest was adjourned until to-day. It was shortly before Monday morning the body of Inspector Townsend was found in the bathroom of his residence at the barracks, shot through the head with a service revolver.

SHOT WAS HEARD
It was stated the two daughters of Inspector Townsend and his housekeeper were downstairs when the inspector entered the bathroom wearing a dressing gown. The sound of a shot startled them, and the body was found when the girls went upstairs.

He had been up earlier in the morning and attended to the fire, returning to bed. It was stated he had not had breakfast when the shot was fired.

At the inquest at the barracks a verdict of accidental death was returned.

VICTORIA BANK CLEARINGS SHOW FINE INCREASE

Bank clearings for the month of August this year were $10,273,975, according to figures issued to-day. This is an advance of $988,576 or more than ten per cent over the clearings for August last year. The August clearings for 1926 were $9,385,398, and for 1925, $8,858,384.

BRIGHT FUTURE FOR CARIBOO IS SEEN

Vancouver, Aug. 31.—The fame of the Cariboo as a gold producer is returning, there being bright prospects of a rich field that will boom that district and turn it into one of the prominent gold-producing areas of the world. But this will not be under the old-time placer system, but with the aid of modern up-to-date machinery.

This is the opinion expressed by Gen. F. A. Sutton, who returned here from the Cariboo last night after a three-week visit. His headquarters were at Barkerville, in the centre of the country, where he owns a farm of about 330 acres, with seven or eight claims in Pleasant Valley, adjoining the New York Harbor entry, called a superb race, especially on the windward legs of the course and finished eighteen seconds ahead of the Central Long Island Sound boat Colleen, and a minute and seven seconds ahead of the defending boat, Rhody of the Narragansett Bay fleet.

The Gravesend Bay boat Ben MacRae finished fourth, leading the 1925 champion, Ace, from the Western Long Island Sound fleet by forty-five seconds. There was a stiff southerly breeze and the course was two and a half mile beat right into the teeth of it and a run back, sailed twice.

A pair of young twins, so exactly alike that they even have the same minor bodily deformity, were examined by finger-print experts and found to have entirely different lines.

In order that the guardians of the law may be real be-men, the city council of a Pennsylvania town has ruled that they must take a cold bath every morning, sleep with windows open, brush their teeth twice daily and go through setting-up exercises.

TO MAKE TESTS

"The difficulty is that, so far, no one seems willing to spend the necessary money for systematic drilling to prospect the field. My intention is to prospect the claims thoroughly with the drill, which will take a year at least. I have men drilling there now, and this work will continue until about the middle of December this year, and then in 1928.

"Eventually I hope to put on two or three dredges, if I can locate ground which is big enough in area and which will make a paying business of it. But I have no intention of putting in a dredge until I have drilled the ground thoroughly, and can satisfy myself the value and the quantity of pay gravel are there," he explained.

WATER NEEDED

A number of hydraulic mines are now at work in the country, he said, but most of them only work a few months in the year, as they are short of water, for although there is plenty of water there is no head to create the pressure. One outfit is at present tunnelling, being out for quartz, and has a very rich prospect, the General declared.

"I take off my hat to old placer miners," Gen. Sutton said enthusiastically. "No one can teach them anything about that kind of mining, and whereas they went they cleaned up everything.

"But the low soggy ground they could not work. This has never been touched, but it can be worked by dredging."

VIERKOTTER LEADS SWIMMERS IN LONG LAKE ONTARIO RACE

Vierkotter was steadily increasing his lead. Edward Keating, New York, dropped out.

John O'Halloran of Barrie, Ont., was fourth.

MISS HERTLE SWIMS WELL

One of the surprises of the swim was the effort being made by Miss Ethel Hertle of New York. She swam strongly and easily.

Georges Michel, noted Channel swimmer of France, was in seventh place at 1 o'clock, followed by Howard Chaffee of California.

One hundred and one swimmers were still in the water at 12:30 p.m.

"Flying Fish" Summers was accompanied by a band, which played lively and popular airs to encourage the swimmer.

Toronto, Aug. 31.—More than 200 swimmers, including some of the world's most noted natators, commenced the twenty-one-mile swimming marathon here to win prizes aggregating $50,000 at 8:32 a.m. to-day.

When Young dropped out it caused the sensation of the day. He had been swimming along, using an even stroke

MANY WITHDREW

Approximately 50 had withdrawn from the race, which had become a test of endurance. The water was choppy and prospects were for a rough sea during the afternoon.

As the swimmers neared the fourth leg of the race along the breakwater, the crowds thronging the exhibition crowded to the sea wall to cheer the leaders.

G. CREGAN QUIT

At 11:30 a.m., three hours after the start, George Cregan of Paterson, N.J., was taken out of the water with cramps. The wind had freshened and the water was choppy and cold.

The withdrawal of Henry Sullivan of Lowell, Mass., of Channel swim fame, in the first two hours came as a distinct surprise. Among the other withdrawals were H. H. Martin of Kansas City, L. Hunt, Bullion Lake, N.Y., and Percy Dunn, Detroit.

When Young dropped out it caused the sensation of the day. He had been swimming along, using an even stroke and the crowd which lined the banks of the lake for miles had figured the youthful Toronto man had the situation well in hand. He was swimming strongly in second place when he suddenly became unconscious.

His manager, Henry O'Byrne, towed him for ten minutes, hoping he would regain consciousness, and when this seemed unlikely he ordered Young taken from the water. Young was taken to the emergency hospital. He was unable to make any statement, but his manager expected he would recover in an hour or so.

VIERKOTTER SLOWED UP

Vierkotter, after Young had dropped out, slowed his stroke slightly, but even at that he was nearly a mile ahead of the second man, Byron Summers, who had been third all the way around.

Mendel Burditt, Toronto, was the only Canadian among the leaders and was in third place at the seventh mile. Ethel Hertle was in fourth place over all, and was the first woman to finish the seven-mile race. He was swimming strongly at the mark.

John O'Halloran, of Barrie, Ont., followed closely behind Miss Hertle. After John O'Halloran, came Georges Michel, Channel swimmer, and Howard Chaffee of California. Wallace Mullin of Kansas City, Jack Hahn of Detroit, and Peter Sawyer of Cincinnati were among the leaders.

MANY PICKED UP

At that time the lake was dotted with boats returning with swimmers who had dropped out, but there still were many who were ploughing steadily along and had not given up hope.

May Elwell, Revere, Mass., was the second woman and was nearly a mile behind Miss Hertle.

Omer Perrault, Montreal, was still in the race. Lucy Diamond and Jane Sion and Lottie Schlemmer were in thirty-second, thirty-third and thirty-fourth places respectively.

Jewel Chetwood, Terre Haute, Ind., made quite a hit with the spectators at the sixth mile. The little eighteen-year-old girl, who looked to be much younger, and weighed ninety-eight pounds, was swimming steadily, and in thirty-sixth position, waved a cheery greeting to the press boat.

Clairabel Barrett, in fortieth place, and Vera James, Brooklyn, swimming closely together, were both smiling as they passed.

GUIDED BY BELL

In forty-ninth place came Michael Hambourg of Toronto, who, blind, is being guided throughout the race by the ringing of an electric bell.

At 1 o'clock the water was fairly choppy and the wind had freshened. Vierkotter received a great ovation as he swam up the one-mile stretch in front of the exhibition grounds after completing the first lap and starting the second lap of the course.

WOMEN SWIMMERS

Toronto, Aug. 31.—Thirty of the 200 swimmers who started the world's greatest marathon swimming race at the Canadian National Exhibition here this morning were women. For once in their lives all thought of personal appearance was cast aside with the bathing suits in the cases of many after the first mile and bodies and faces, covered with thick yellow or black grease, were hardly recognizable.

Among the fifteen or twenty swimmers who played out in the first mile there were no women.

At the end of the fourth mile Ethel Hertle of New York was the leading woman swimmer. This was reached by her about two hours from the time of starting. Louise Hardy of Toronto was next and was easily in the lead in the twenty swimmers. Both were in the highest spirits, laughing and waving to the spectators and apparently not the least exhausted as they swam leisurely and gracefully on.

If a woman should win this race the reward would be $55,000, an extra $5,000 being allowed for such an extraordinary accomplishment.

CROWD OUT EARLY

Toronto, Aug. 31.—By sunrise this morning every road leading to the Canadian National Exhibition grounds here was jammed with pedestrians and automobile traffic en route to the start of the twenty-one-mile $50,000 swimming marathon.

Following two days of rainy weather to-day dawned bright and clear. The

and the crowd which lined the banks of the lake for miles had figured the youthful Toronto man had the situation well in hand. He was swimming strongly in second place when he suddenly became unconscious.

His manager, Henry O'Byrne, towed him for ten minutes, hoping he would regain consciousness, and when this seemed unlikely he ordered Young taken from the water. Young was taken to the emergency hospital. He was unable to make any statement, but his manager expected he would recover in an hour or so.

VIERKOTTER SLOWED UP

Vierkotter, after Young had dropped out, slowed his stroke slightly, but even at that he was nearly a mile ahead of the second man, Byron Summers, who had been third all the way around.

Mendel Burditt, Toronto, was the only Canadian among the leaders and was in third place at the seventh mile. Ethel Hertle was in fourth place over all, and was the first woman to finish the seven-mile race. He was swimming strongly at the mark.

John O'Halloran, of Barrie, Ont., followed closely behind Miss Hertle. After John O'Halloran, came Georges Michel, Channel swimmer, and Howard Chaffee of California. Wallace Mullin of Kansas City, Jack Hahn of Detroit, and Peter Sawyer of Cincinnati were among the leaders.

MANY PICKED UP

At that time the lake was dotted with boats returning with swimmers who had dropped out, but there still were many who were ploughing steadily along and had not given up hope.

May Elwell, Revere, Mass., was the second woman and was nearly a mile behind Miss Hertle.

Omer Perrault, Montreal, was still in the race. Lucy Diamond and Jane Sion and Lottie Schlemmer were in thirty-second, thirty-third and thirty-fourth places respectively.

Jewel Chetwood, Terre Haute, Ind., made quite a hit with the spectators at the sixth mile. The little eighteen-year-old girl, who looked to be much younger, and weighed ninety-eight pounds, was swimming steadily, and in thirty-sixth position, waved a cheery greeting to the press boat.

Clairabel Barrett, in fortieth place, and Vera James, Brooklyn, swimming closely together, were both smiling as they passed.

GUIDED BY BELL

In forty-ninth place came Michael Hambourg of Toronto, who, blind, is being guided throughout the race by the ringing of an electric bell.

At 1 o'clock the water was fairly choppy and the wind had freshened. Vierkotter received a great ovation as he swam up the one-mile stretch in front of the exhibition grounds after completing the first lap and starting the second lap of the course.

WOMEN SWIMMERS

Toronto, Aug. 31.—Thirty of the 200 swimmers who started the world's greatest marathon swimming race at the Canadian National Exhibition here this morning were women. For once in their lives all thought of personal appearance was cast aside with the bathing suits in the cases of many after the first mile and bodies and faces, covered with thick yellow or black grease, were hardly recognizable.

Among the fifteen or twenty swimmers who played out in the first mile there were no women.

At the end of the fourth mile Ethel Hertle of New York was the leading woman swimmer. This was reached by her about two hours from the time of starting. Louise Hardy of Toronto was next and was easily in the lead in the twenty swimmers. Both were in the highest spirits, laughing and waving to the spectators and apparently not the least exhausted as they swam leisurely and gracefully on.

If a woman should win this race the reward would be $55,000, an extra $5,000 being allowed for such an extraordinary accomplishment.

CROWD OUT EARLY

Toronto, Aug. 31.—By sunrise this morning every road leading to the Canadian National Exhibition grounds here was jammed with pedestrians and automobile traffic en route to the start of the twenty-one-mile $50,000 swimming marathon.

Following two days of rainy weather to-day dawned bright and clear. The

SIR GEORGE FOSTER'S OPTIMISM

BECAUSE THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS is an experiment and challenges the pessimists and sceptics we shall be told from time to time that it can not possibly succeed, that nations still will resort to the primitive way of settling their differences, and that we might as well wish for the moon as expect universal peace. Some may feel inclined to think so; but as long as Sir George Foster is spared his health he will continue to employ his matchless oratory in the hope that the people of Canada will develop their will to peace and help to influence the rest of the world to do the same.

In his address before a Vancouver audience the other day Sir George—who will speak in Victoria on Friday of this week—declared that he lost all patience when he read the history of the diplomatic negotiations which once took place before wars. It there was shown how a great conflict was made possible by the prejudices of a mere handful of people. "Read the negotiations which occurred before the last war," he exclaimed, "and note the few persons who participated in them."

Sir George Foster bases a good deal of his hope for the future on the various forces outside of ourselves that are operating to bring about the new internationalism. He singles out for special mention the vast developments which have taken place in recent years in means of communication and transport, noting the beneficial influence which these new facilities for personal contact eventually must have upon the people of the world, since ignorance and prejudice must give way before knowledge and mutual trust.

The optimism of Sir George furnishes a striking contrast, for instance, to the lugubrious outlook that is reflected in a speech which Lord Birkenhead delivered at a Pilgrims Club banquet in London recently. He then said in part:

It is easy to say that war is barbarous, cruel and stupid, and ought to be stopped; but how many of us believe that in fact it can be abolished? I enter a most earnest caveat lest it should be supposed that either human nature or international human nature has greatly changed. It has not. In the twilight of history the problems which confront us to-day were the same problems. They confronted men who knew the evils of war as clearly as we know them, yet found themselves unable to prevent those evils as the statesmen of the world found themselves in August, 1914.

Fortunately the gathering did not disperse in this melancholy atmosphere, for Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, President of Columbia University, put the case for peace this way:

Surely a nation or an individual who has lived through those four dreadful years just behind us realizes that the world to-day is staggering under the problems which they have bequeathed. Surely we have the courage and the capacity to make sure that such a calamity shall not happen again. England and the United States could agree together that, in their dealings with each other, they would renounce war as an instrument of international policy, and think only in terms of negotiation or settlement. No nation could do that unless it believed that the nations with which it made a pledge would keep the pledge.

It obviously is the will to peace that is necessary now more than at any time before. If we are to assume that another war is inevitable, we shall have to look forward to the complete destruction of our civilization. Another war would give Bolshevism its chance. Worse would follow. But is the world so bankrupt in common sense and statesmanship as to throw up its arms and say we have not progressed since "the twilight of history?"

THE CONSERVATIVE PARTY'S DILEMMA

A PART FROM THE BUSINESS OF choosing a leader, the principal item on the agenda, what are the Conservatives going to do about the tariff when they meet at Winnipeg? It has been intimated by Hon. Hugh Guthrie that more consideration must be shown to prairie interests and western interests generally. In fact, we are told that the Conservative Party is going to make a big effort to woo the West.

How can the Conservative Party of Canada interest the West unless the delegates to the Winnipeg gathering discuss the tariff? The West can not be wooed by a proposal to increase the tariff. The Conservative Party can not ditch its traditional policy and tell the prairie farmers that it will lower the tariff if it is given an opportunity. What else is going to be discussed at Winnipeg, then, if the tariff is struck off the agenda?

We know, of course, that the Conservatives indulge in more flag-waving than the Liberals; but they will have to consider this anew when they come to that part of the Conservative policy which is represented by the famous speech that Mr. Meighen delivered at Hamilton last year and reiterated in the East and in the House of Commons. The Conservative Party would hold a general election before it would sanction the sending of troops from these shores to take part in a war involving the Empire. That plank in the party's platform never has been repudiated by Mr. Guthrie nor by any of his colleagues. The delegates will have an opportunity of discussing the many phases of this policy at Winnipeg.

The truth of the matter is, the Conservative Party of Canada is wondering what it can do to shorten the life of the present Government at Ottawa. It has a stiff problem on its hands, for it realizes that it never will be able to marry the West as long as certain elements in Central Canada dictate its policy.

OUR YOUTH IS ALL RIGHT

TO BE LOST IN THE WOODS FOR three days with neither food, extra clothing, nor shelter beyond the trees is an experience upon which even the most resourceful adult voluntarily would not care to embark. But a thrilling narrative comes from Quebec which records how five lads, whose ages range from eight to sixteen, were lost in the Laurentian woods for three days and came through their ordeal with spirit unbroken and nervous system unharmed. "Nothing more than hunger and exhaustion seemed to worry them. A good night's rest put them all right."

When the five had been rescued one of the smaller members of the party calmly declared: "We had no trouble at all. We walked a lot and we ate berries and we drank water. We were lost, but none of us was frightened." No sooner had this stripping told his brief story than he dropped asleep. It is pointed out that there have been cases of men being lost in the Laurentian woods who were much more worried than these lads. One particularly interesting feature of their adventure, incidentally, is the fact that the eldest boy on more than one occasion covered the body of the youngest with his own in order that he might not suffer from cold while sleeping. Parents will be proud of this lad.

Visitors from other countries who come to Canada often are impressed by the intelligence and self-reliance so obvious in our boys and girls. The case referred to furnishes ample evidence of sturdy youth. Every Canadian should thrill at the thought of it. The example set by these boys—and it was shown that the woodcraft revealed by the leader of the five appears to have been sound at all times—is an answer to those who fear for the rising generation. They need not worry about it.

WE MUST MARK OUR GOODS

CANADIAN EXPORTERS ARE BEING urged by the Canadian Chamber of Commerce in London to mark their products: "Made in Canada" or "Produced in Canada" in order that they and this country may get as much advertising as possible out of the marks.

This is excellent advice. Douglas Fir from this Province is called Oregon Pine by most of the importers of timber in Great Britain. Much advertising has been lost to this Province in consequence. It is not easy for the average Old Countryman to think of a product by that name as Canadian.

This country already is the fifth exporting nation in the world and the variety of our exportable products is increasing every year. The advice which the Canadian Chamber of Commerce in London has given our exporters should be taken in every way possible.

THE ELK NOW THRIVES

ANOTHER CHAPTER IN WILD LIFE conservation in Canada has been written in connection with the elk. At one time these animals roamed in great numbers over the greater part of the continent. In Canada their range included parts of Quebec and Ontario and extended westward through the prairie provinces into this Province. Some time ago excessive hunting had reduced their numbers to a most alarming extent in every part of the continent. Game authorities realized that if the animals were left unprotected they soon would disappear entirely, and regulations were brought into force by the provinces concerned establishing close seasons for these animals. In this Province—in the small area in the southeastern part—as well as in Saskatchewan, the male elk may be shot for fifteen days, but in the other provinces they are protected throughout the year. The result of this protection is that the elk population of the Dominion has increased to nearly 20,000. These are distributed as follows: Manitoba, 4,000; Saskatchewan, 5,000; Alberta, 4,000; British Columbia, between 6,000 and 7,000.

CANADA AND THE EMPIRE
From The Chicago Tribune

The probability, we believe, is that Canada will become more, rather than less, independent of England. Canada is polyglot in its makeup and will continue to be so for generations. Canada will maintain its own integrity and its place in the Empire but for diverse reasons which will be little understood by Englishmen and other Europeans.

THE WORLD'S LARGEST CARILLON

Q—Where is the world's largest carillon?
A—The world's largest carillon of bells has been made by Messrs. Gillett & Johnston, Croydon, England, for installation in the Victoria Memorial Tower of the new Canadian House of Parliament at Ottawa. There are fifty-three bells in the carillon, varying in weight from fourteen pounds to ten tons. Its total cost is $91,000. A set of chimes similar to those of Westminster will also be installed in connection with Canada's "Big Ben," which has now been placed in the Tower.

Over Your Requests By An Imperial Life Policy

KENNETH FERGUSON
Imperial Life Assurance Company
308 Belmont Bldg.

Sir John Macdonald urged the Imperial authorities to replace Governor Seymour by Anthony Musgrave, Governor of Newfoundland, who was heart and soul with the movement. The difficulty was unexpectedly removed by the death of Seymour, and Musgrave was appointed in his stead. In the meantime the proposition of union of both Mainland and Island had been active. It was a matter of diplomatic arrangement details, in which Governor Musgrave was an adept.

At this time British Columbia was in a situation of almost complete isolation. After the decline of placer mining business became stagnant. There was only a limited export market for lumber. There was practically no fishing industry, and agriculture was in its infant stage. British Columbia desired communication with eastern Canada by railway in order to find a market for its natural resources and to enable it to expand in population and industry.

When terms had been discussed in the Legislative Assembly, three members, the Honorable Joseph Trutch, the Honorable W. S. Helmecken, and the Honorable J. W. Carrall—were sent as representatives to the Federal Government to negotiate the details of the proposed railway, but the delegates did not expect a railway right away. They thought of a wagon road to the Great Lakes, to be followed by a railway as soon as possible. They were, however, met more than half way by a full-fledged railway to be completed within ten years. This was acceptable and the terms of the details, with a few minor alterations, were speedily agreed upon. The railway, a private enterprise, was to be assisted mainly by a huge grant of land. This grant, in addition to a small cash subsidy per mile, failed to attract the necessary capital. The opposition to the scheme was very strong, and the Pacific Scandal, which followed shortly, brought about the defeat of the Government. The MacKenzie Government did not believe that the terms could be accepted, and the railway was not built.

In 1884, a number of outstanding matters between the two governments were settled by what is known as the Settlement Act, acceptable at the time, but which British Columbia now claims was not a just settlement. However, the building of the C.P.R. and its subsequent extension to the coast, not only a godsend to British Columbia but had perhaps the most important and far-reaching influence on the economic destinies of Canada of anything in its whole history.

Sir George Foster Speaks in Vancouver

Vancouver, Aug. 31.—Increased participation of the masses of the people in formulating the attitudes of nations toward each other was given by Senator Sir George Foster in addressing the Vancouver Canadian Club yesterday, as one of the forces operating against war. He cited as an example that not long ago war seemed possible between the United States and Mexico, but that immediately the chance of conflict became known people in all parts of the country protested to Washington. He said the history of negotiations before other conflicts showed decisions were made on the prejudices of a mere handful of people.

"Read the negotiations which occurred before the last war and note the few persons who participated in them," he said. Sir George spoke on "The New Internationalism." He said the most stupendous accomplishment in all history was the fact that fifty-six out of sixty-three nations had formed themselves into an association of nations to devise a new method of carrying on their relations. Senator Foster impressed upon his hearers that it was the duty of individuals as well as nations to take stock of the conditions and to try to find what subsidiary forces there were which might be helpful in any cause in which they were engaged.

Extraordinary increases in the facilities of transportation and for personal contact were also operating to bring about the new internationalism, the speaker said. Wherever personal contact took place, he said, ignorance and prejudice disappeared.

PENITENT SECURES WATERFRONT RIGHTS

Extension of Boundary Approved by Order-in-council

Penitent secures boundary extension, giving it control over the waterfront of the lake under an Order-in-Council which has just been signed by the Lieutenant-Governor. The Order-in-Council approves a by-law by which the city is permitted to extend its boundaries beyond the highwater mark of the lake to which it was limited before, and assume control of the actual shore of the lake. This control is in the hands of most municipalities, but had not been provided for in setting out the Penitent boundary line. The adjustment is now provided for.

Approval is also given the Nelson city-by-law regarding waterworks which permits an undertaking for the renewal of waterpipes in the city.

HORSE RACING

Vancouver, Aug. 31.—Epo, two-year-old, owned by E. M. Markham and ridden by Copeland, won the sixth event at Brighouse Park yesterday, the fifth Frank Gallor won with ease and returned $1120 on the nose.

Sir George spoke on "The New Internationalism." He said the most stupendous accomplishment in all history was the fact that fifty-six out of sixty-three nations had formed themselves into an association of nations to devise a new method of carrying on their relations. Senator Foster impressed upon his hearers that it was the duty of individuals as well as nations to take stock of the conditions and to try to find what subsidiary forces there were which might be helpful in any cause in which they were engaged.

Extraordinary increases in the facilities of transportation and for personal contact were also operating to bring about the new internationalism, the speaker said. Wherever personal contact took place, he said, ignorance and prejudice disappeared.

BARROW ATTENDING CHILLWACK FAIR

Minister of Agriculture Will Take Part in Opening Ceremony

Hon. E. D. Barrow, Minister of Agriculture, left Victoria last night to take part in the opening ceremony of the Chillwack exhibition this afternoon, where Mr. Barrow and H. J. Barber, will be the speakers.

Regarded as the biggest fair of the Province outside of the Coast cities, this year's fair will be no exception to the rule. The showing of dairy stock will exceed the showing of last year's. All of the four main dairy breeds will be well represented. Field and garden products will present an attractive exhibit and known as the best showing of an off year for tree fruits, the entries point to an exceedingly good showing.

FIREMEN SAVE MANY LIVES IN PICTURE AT COLUMBIA SHOW

Dan Mason pulls a "Lon Chaney" in "The Fire Brigade," at the Columbia. In playing the part of "Pop-Ing," as indicated in his character name, Mason wears a peg over what is apparently a stump, and in a man of Mason's age, this is no easy thing. Mason had to bend his leg double, wearing his foot in the seat of his trousers, as John Gilbert did in the last scenes of "The Big Parade." "The Fire Brigade" was directed by William Nigh for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

"THE CLAW" FEATURES FIERCE BATTLE WITH AFRICAN VOODOO MEN

One of the fiercest battles ever enacted before the camera was staged in "The Claw," the Universal-Jewel which will be the entertainment at the Capitol Theatre all this week. Claire Windsor and Norman Kerry are the stars. Battle scenes and fight scenes are always left until the last in making a moving picture because fight are noted for their wear and tear on clothing and likelihood of injury to the participants.

More than 100 negroes, dressed in the costume of East African natives, took part in the battle as did Norman Kerry and a score of whites. The skirmish was directed by Sidney Olcott and continued for the better part of four hours before enough satisfactory scenes were made to insure against setbacks.

The negroes were equipped with spears, which, although rubber-tipped, inflicted painful bruises when they made a direct hit and Olcott in his enthusiasm for realism insisted that the spears be hurled directly at the attacking whites. For many days the valiant warriors nursed black eyes and other bruises that showed the accuracy of the negroes' spear tossing.

On the stage at the Capitol for this week the vaudeville is headed by a delightful Scottish presentation, introducing George Dangury and his Scottish flashes, in a comedy presentation full of songs, dancing and Scottish jest, this act is unique. "Ramona Rambert," the soprano soloist, who made an appearance on the Capitol stage several weeks ago, has been re-engaged to give song selections. The third act on this programme will be in the nature of a surprise.

"MOULDERS OF MEN" SHOWN ON SILVER SCREEN AT VARIETY

An abundance of thrills, fights and romance is offered in "The Fire Brigade," the picture, "Moulders of Men," now showing at the Variety Theatre. eral others in a series of thrilling situations, which keep the audience in continual suspense until the gripping climax. The regeneration of a little crippled boy through the efforts of the physician and the Elks' hospital provides an unusual note of interest. Ralph Ince's direction has reached its finest achievement in his material handling of the story, and a splendid cast, comprising such players as Margaret Morris, Frankie Darro, Rex Lease, Eugene Pallette, Jola Mendon and Bill Knight, furnish excellent support to the notable work of the star.

GRAND DUKE TURNS WAITER IN FEATURE FILM AT PLAYHOUSE

In "My Official Wife," Warner's latest production, Conway Tearle, who is featured with Irene Rich, appears as Sascha, son of a Grand Duke. After the bloody days of the Revolution when his father has been killed and the vast estates confiscated, he is forced to take a job as waiter in a Viennese cabaret. Here, in the startling beauty of a dancing girl played by Irene Rich, he finds the former Countess Orloff, whom he had wronged, and who had sought him for years, to make him pay the long past debt. It is a rushing story of an all-conquering love.

Others in the company are Sidney Bracey, John Miljan, Jane Winton, Emile Chautard, Gustav Von Seyffertitz, Milla Devoyenport, Will Hall, Russell Ritchie, Tom Costello and Michael Fleischhoff. The film is an adaptation by Graham Baker from Archibald G. Gunter's story, and was directed by Paul Stein the celebrated Austrian. "My Official Wife," showing all this week at the Playhouse Theatre.

THE HUMBLE PEANUT TAKES BIG PART IN "PAINTING THE TOWN"

Consider the peanut. Its origin a mole-hill, it has the power to move mountains. What elephant will not strain at his chains for a single goober-pea? What would the circus be without peanuts? A ball game? Coney Island?

It remains for a motion picture company to pay homage to the lowly peanut and to consecrate a costly production in its honor. "Painting the Town," the hilarious farce comedy being shown this week at the Dominion Theatre, takes its cue from the universal appeal of a sack of peanuts. The hero, Glen Tryon, wins the title of "the peanut kid" by his habitual munching of peanuts throughout the picture. He wins his way in the film story largely by his sly distribution of peanuts at critical moments. No one can resist the crackle of a peanut shell. If you don't believe it, see how he does it. Try it yourself.

MYSTERY MAN AT COLISEUM

Among the vaudeville turns at the Coliseum this week is Zippo, the mystery man, who has practically no arms or legs, and yet he does an acrobatic act. Born into this world with such a handicap would discourage most people but not so with Zippo, who has found a way to commercialize his misfortune. He appears at 9 p.m. each night this week. The closing act featuring Hans Bechtel and Jimmie Howard, is the hit of this week's vaudeville offerings.

PANTOMIME "ALADDIN" TO TOUR CANADA

Will Open at His Majesty's
Theatre in Montreal Sept. 19

Those who recall the pantomimes of early days will be interested to learn that a real pantomime, thoroughly up-to-date, yet distinguished by all the old-time characteristics that have made English pantomime a unique entertainment the world over, will be presented throughout Canada, opening at His Majesty's Theatre in Montreal at the week beginning Monday, September 19.

"Aladdin" is coming direct from London with the original principals and the original production. It depicts the age-old legend of the wonderful lamp. Dave Lee, the leading comedian, who will portray the Widow Twankey, is famous for such roles, having played them in all the leading pantomimes at all the leading centres for years. He has just completed an extensive tour of Australia and South Africa. This will be his first visit to Canada.

Miss Lillian Barnes, who will play Pekoe, is noted as a pantomime boy. She has a fine stage presence and a splendid contralto voice.

There will be a special ballet under the special direction of Miss Phyllis Reford, sister of Ella Reford, and well-known vaudeville comedienne and dancer. Dancing and singing will be outstanding features of "Aladdin," as well as spectacular effects and pantomime comedy.

The entire Canadian tour will be under the direction of B. E. Lang; of O'Neill and Lang, Trans-Canadian attractions.

Mount Everest, peak in the Himalayas nearly six miles high, is still unconquered by man. Human life could not exist on its summit for more than a day or two, because of the rarified atmosphere and the intense cold.

As the result of chemical experiments, black furs may be dyed white on a commercial scale. It now is possible to produce on furs effects such as formerly were made only on textiles, such as printing, etching, stencil work and multi-colored effects.

BANFF HIGHLAND FESTIVAL

LIEUT. CHARLES DUNBAR, B.C.M.
One of the chief features of the Banff Highland gathering, to be held at Banff, September 3 to 5, will be a pipe from each of the seventeen Highland regiments in Canada, to take part in the inter-regimental piping contest for the trophy presented by E. W. Beatty, K.C., president of the C.P.R. Lieut. Charles Dunbar, of the Princess Louise Argyl and Sutherland Highlanders, Hamilton, Ontario, will compete at the gathering, which in all likelihood will be the greatest bagpipe competition ever held in the country.

Norma Shearer Has Ambition To Quit the Films

Join the movies and see the world. That's Norma Shearer's advice to young men and girls who want to go places and see things.

"Aside from the navy and a travelling salesman's job, the movies offer more opportunity to visit places than any other vocation," says Norma. "When I first started working in pictures I was surprised at the amount of traveling that was necessary to make a film. I was working in New York then. We used to go every place from Canada to Florida on location trips. Since practically all of the large studios have concentrated their production in Hollywood, there aren't so many location trips now, but there are enough to satisfy even the most adventuresome person."

Miss Shearer, by the way, is the only cinema actress I have ever known who admits that her time on the screen is limited. To admit that you will not remain in the celluloid heaven indefinitely is an unheard-of thing in the movie town.

"I want to do one film that will stand out above all my others—then I will be ready to retire and live on my laurels from that production," she declares.

Norma objects to being called superstitious—but she is. She always drives to the studio via the same road because it has brought her good luck; she will not move into a more elaborate dressing room, which has been offered her on several occasions, because she rose to the top from her present studio quarters and is afraid to change; she must go into a picture feeling that it will "rip" or it won't be a success; and she must go to a fortune teller now and then.

During the early part of her career as a star, Norma fought for super-special productions of a serious nature. She didn't want ordinary programme films, especially those of a light comedy vein, but she was finally persuaded that they would be good for her. And now she shuns special and serious pictures.

J. OGDEN ARMOUR FUNERAL IN CHICAGO

Chicago, Aug. 31.—While the massive organ in the fashionable Fourth Presbyterian Church here pealed forth the plaintive strains of "There's a Long, Long Trail A-Winding," the great and humble rubbed shoulders yesterday at the funeral of the late J. Ogden Armour.

The socially great, the politically prominent and men and women from "back of the yard" whom the packer had helped during his lifetime mingled with employees of the packing concern, for whom one-fourth of the Michigan Avenue church was reserved. Ten years ago the packer, who died recently in London, expressed the wish that music should be played at his funeral and had always admired that "Long, Long Trail," and yesterday his wish, simple in character, was conducted by Rev. Cornelius Steffens.

AIRMAN'S TWO WIVES MEET AT DAYTON

Trouble in Store For W. S. Brock, Round-the-world Flier

Dayton, O., Aug. 31.—Dolly Spilker Brock, Detroit, second wife of William S. Brock, round-the-world flier, and Mrs. Corinne Brock, who claims to have married Brock at Martinsville, Ill., on October 1, 1916, and who insists she still is the wife in so far as any knowledge she has of divorce, met here yesterday.

The Detroit Mrs. Brock, according to Mrs. Corinne Brock, is the Dolly Spilker mentioned in news dispatches as being the present and legal wife of the flier.

The conference was attended by the utmost good feeling and it was declared after the talk that they had no antagonism for each other.

Mrs. Corinne Brock stated her chief object in attempting to straighten out the marriage difficulty was to determine whether she was married to Brock yet or not.

She said she would take no action whatever in the case until Brock returned from the world flight, when legal action probably would be instituted.

RESIDENT OF ST. HELEN APARTMENTS ENDORSES "HUSKY"

Tells How This Preparation, Now Distributed by MacFarlane Drug Company, Built Up Her Health in Every Way

There certainly must be good reason for the increasing demand for Husky, the herb preparation, distributed by the MacFarlane Drug Company, which is constantly growing in popularity among the residents of this city and vicinity. The reason for this increasing demand is probably best explained by the Husky users, who are returning to the MacFarlane Drug Company and telling how Husky is relieving such ills as indigestion, gas and sour stomach, headaches, "dizzy spells," constipation, rheumatic pains, nervousness, unsound sleep and weak, tired feelings.

Among the Victoria residents endorsing Husky for its fine work is Miss Annetta Walker, of the St. Helen Apartments, who tells as follows how Husky benefited her: "I was in a nervous, weak, run-down condition. I never felt like eating anything and food didn't seem to agree with me very well. The slightest exertion just tired me out completely."

"Hearing about others gaining new health and strength through the Husky treatment, I turned to it in my search for relief. The first two bottles of this preparation helped me wonderfully and now I am enjoying a fine appetite and feeling fine in general. Husky is a real health builder and I am glad to recommend it to others in 'Victoria'."

CALL AT MACFARLANE DRUG COMPANY

If you suffer in any way Husky is recommended to relieve, call at the MacFarlane Drug Company, Husky headquarters, and let the Husky expert explain to you how the best and quickest results may be obtained from the use of this medicine. (Adv.)

To Find out if you need Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.—A study of these symptoms will enable you to decide.

This blood and nerve restorative was devised for use in two great classes of diseases, one of which usually develops from the other—Anemia or bloodlessness, and Nervous Exhaustion. If the blood is thin and watery, as is indicated by pallor of the lips, eyelids and gums, or if you are afflicted by some form of nervous trouble, you will find in Dr. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD the most certain means of relief and restoration. Some of the symptoms and ailments which come under this heading are:

Thin blood, sallow complexion, pallor of eyelids, lips and gums, tired feelings, loss of energy and ambition, tendency to fear and anxiety, loss of breath and easily fatigued, weak heart action, loss of flesh and weight, neurasthenia, nervous prostration, nervous headache, indigestion, sleeplessness, irritability, nervousness, twitching of nerves and muscles, sensitive to sound and light, gloomy forebodings, loss of memory, inability to concentrate the mind.

DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD is really the greatest of restoratives. By forming new red corpuscles in the blood this food treatment nourishes the starved and depleted nerves back to health and vigor. Try it when you are run down and out of sorts. It will restore vigor and energy and make you feel that life is worth living.

WOMEN'S PAGEANT AT NATIONAL FAIR

Ontario Women's Institute to Stage Old-fashioned Costumes From Farms

Toronto, Ont., August 31 (By the Canadian Press)—Confederation and its historical associations play an important part in the women's demonstration this year at the Canadian National Exhibition and one event which promises to reveal a unique page of Canadian life is the presentation by the Ontario Women's Institute. It is to be an old-fashioned costume parade with quaint costumes collected from farm houses all over Ontario. Another feature of particular interest to women will be the fashion show to be presented by the Technical School, showing modern styles and accessories. In connection with the programme in the "Three Arts Room" in the Women's Building, there will be a novel demonstration in weaving, spinning and rug-making by Madame Cimon and her five daughters, from Bala St. Paul, Quebec. A haberdashery cabin has been erected as an attractive setting. There will be another exhibition of handicraft work by Mrs. K. Macdonald of Alberta, and Miss Jessie Stewart of Manitoba, showing modern arts and crafts. The Women's Art Association, as usual will have an extensive showing.

TREACHEROUS TRAIL WALKED BY NURSE

Lost in Mountains Last Year, Miss Warburton Hikes Over Same Ground

Undaunted by the sufferings she endured when lost last fall for five weeks in the mountains flanking the Hope-Princeton trail, Miss Warburton, Vancouver nurse, hiked victoriously over the same ground last week. She walked into Princeton on Sunday afternoon unannounced, greeted by the astonishment of F. D. Davis, veteran prospector of the Similkameen, who rescued her last year after she had been given up as dead. Miss Warburton left Vancouver last Wednesday. She slipped away quietly, not advising friends of her intention to attempt again the passage of the mountain trail alone. She plans to proceed to Princeton to help pick the apple crop. Following her recovery from the ill-effects of the privation and exposure she endured in the hills last year, Miss Warburton announced that she was determined to accomplish the journey, which so nearly cost her life. Friends thought she was merely making a fine gesture, but her indomitable courage carried her through to accomplishment of her purpose. She left Princeton alone on Thursday morning, and is reported to have made excellent time to the summit, and rapid progress on the downward slope into Princeton.

Daughter of Lord Hewart Reading Classics at Oxford

Toronto, Ont., Aug. 31 (By the Canadian Press)—Following her father's footsteps is the task of Hon. Katharine Hewart, daughter of the Lord Chief Justice of England, who is accompanying her father and Lady Hewart through Canada, while Lord Hewart attends the meeting of the Canadian Bar Association. But it is not in law that Hon. Katharine Hewart is choosing her ambitious path, but in the reading of classics at the most aristocratic of institutions, Oxford, where the registration is restricted to one girl to every four men. She is in her third year. While not a lawyer nor connected with the law in any way other than through Lord Hewart's position, Lady Hewart has made many observations of the profession. It is slow in opening out to women and those who are called to the bar interest themselves chiefly in cases where they are defending women and children in court. "No great financial corporation is ready to trust its business to women yet," says Lady Hewart.

PRINCIPALS IN PRETTY WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Alexander Chisholm (nee Helen McNaughton).

WHITE CHOSEN FOR BRIDAL RETRUE AT TO-DAY'S WEDDING

Pretty Ceremony Unites Miss Helen McNaughton and Mr. H. A. Chisholm of Havana

With the bride and her four attendants all wearing white, one of the prettiest weddings of the season was solemnized this afternoon at 2:30 at the First United Church in the presence of a large congregation. The principals were Helen, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter F. McNaughton, of "Ronaldha," Gordon Road, and Hugh Alexander Chisholm, of Havana, Cuba, son of the Rev. John Chisholm and Mrs. Chisholm of Montreal.

FORMER TRADE COMMISSIONER

The bridegroom, who was born in Kamloops, graduated from McGill University in Law and from Queen's University in Arts. He served overseas in the Great War and in 1919-1920 was appointed Canadian Trade Commissioner for Latin America, later performing a similar mission in India. He is now supervisor in Cuba for the Sun Life Assurance Company. The bride is a popular member of the teaching profession, being a member of the junior class at Gordon Head School. To-day's ceremony was performed in the church in which the bridegroom's parents, and subsequently his sister, were married. Dr. McLaren of Vancouver, who officiated at the marriage of the bride's parents, and Rev. W. G. Wilson, D.D., performed the ceremony.

LOVELY DECORATIONS

Girl friends of the bride, headed by Mrs. F. M. Brody and Miss Helen Leckie, had decorated the church with a lovely profusion of Summer blossoms in the pastel rainbow shades; dahlias, asters, gladioli and other flowers in shades of mauve and pink forming the two arches which spanned the aisle. Tall standard baskets of gladioli and asters, and palms flanked the pulpit, and the guest pews were indicated with posies of corns and shasta dahlies. Mr. McNaughton gave his daughter in marriage. She was a winsome picture in her beautiful wedding gown of white georgette fashioned with long and wide bouffant skirt. Her veil of exquisite Honiton lace fell on train in soft folds from beneath a circlet of real orange blossoms, sent from California. She carried a lovely shawl bouquet of Ophelia roses, white heather, blue delphinium and waveronia.

FOUR ATTENDANTS

Miss Charlotte Black of Kelowna, in a bouffant frock of white crepe meteor, and Miss Patricia Barr, in white crepe meteor fashioned on slender lines, were the bridesmaids, both wearing white picture hats with streamers of white georgette, and carrying sheaves of gladioli in pastel shades of mauve and pink. The little Misses Helen Vantreigh and Marianne Riviere were flower girls, wearing dainty white silk frocks smocked in pastel shades, and carrying baskets of flowers in similar colorings. Mr. R. H. Arnott of Vancouver, cousin of the bride, supported the bridegroom, and the ushers were Messrs. Ira Dillworth and W. F. Somers. During the ceremony Mr. R. J. Gurney played the nuptial music, and Miss Marjorie Watson sang very beautifully "Thanks Be to God." After the service a reception was held at "Ronaldha," Gordon Road, Mrs. McNaughton receiving the guests in a gown of white georgette over brocade silk and a hat of white georgette.

Mr. Arthur Jones, who was seriously injured in a gasoline explosion on a launch at Chemainus recently, has so far recovered that he was able to be brought by motor from Chemainus to Victoria on Sunday. He was accompanied by his wife, and is convalescing at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albion Johns, 1778 Richardson Street.

A very jolly surprise party took place last evening at 2418 Dryde Street in honor of Mrs. Rhoda Chantell, who is leaving on this afternoon's boat to take up duties as teacher at Fort St. John. Thirty-six friends were present, and with a handsome volume of Pauline Johnson's "Pilot and Feather," in appreciation of her services as primary teacher at Hampshire Road Sunday School.

The reception room was effectively arranged with flowers in the rainbow shades of pink, mauve and blue, similar colorings being used on the luncheon table at which the bride and the ushers were seated.

Mr. and Mrs. Chisholm left on the first stage of their honeymoon, which is to be spent motoring on Vancouver Island. Later they will leave for Toronto, Montreal and New York to spend some time before settling for Havana, Cuba, where they will make their future home. The bride traveled in a smart tailored ensemble in three tones of caramel, with becoming hat to match.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Fraser, of Bay Street, have left on a five days' motor trip to Up-Island points.

Mrs. Worsnop left yesterday afternoon for Vancouver, to spend several weeks as the guest of friends.

After spending the Summer at Langford Lake, Mr. W. A. Maxam has returned to the city and is the guest of Mr. C. A. Maxam, Windsor Road.

Rev. A. E. de L. Nunn, of St. Mary's Church, Oak Bay, has returned to Seattle, and will return to Victoria before going to his home in the North.

Mrs. R. H. Hanson of Westfield, New Jersey, arrived in Victoria last Saturday on a visit to her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. T. Bowden, Elford Street.

Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Murray and the Misses Blilie and Daphne Murray, after spending the Summer months at Brentwood, returned yesterday to their home on Richardson Street.

Mr. Walter Broad of Stewart, who has been spending the last week in Victoria, left this afternoon for Vancouver from where he will leave to-night for his home in the North.

Mrs. Metropolski, who has been the guest of her sister Mrs. George McKenzie, left for Seattle this afternoon, and will return to Victoria before going to her home in San Francisco.

Dr. and Mrs. Watson (nee Bruce Gilmer), whose wedding took place in Victoria a few weeks ago, have taken up their residence at Alert Bay, where Dr. Watson is in charge of the hospital.

Miss Dorothy Morton, Balmoral Hotel, who has been spending the last few weeks in Portland as the guest of Mrs. L. M. Knight and Mrs. Walker, returned to her home in Victoria on Sunday.

Mr. A. B. McNeill, auditor of revenue for the Provincial Government, returned to the city yesterday after a holiday of two months spent on the prairie, and in Winnipeg and Saskatoon. Mr. McNeill was accompanied by Mrs. McNeill and family.

Mrs. and Mrs. J. M. Coleman and their little daughter, Eileen, who came from Astoria, Oregon, to spend a holiday in Victoria, have returned home after a delightful visit here, during which Mr. Coleman did some sketching and thoroughly enjoyed the art exhibit at the Provincial Exhibition and the Crystal Garden.

Miss Betty Robertson, who is to be married to Mr. Jack Hargrave on Saturday, was honored at a hankie-chief shower given by Mrs. J. S. Woods of Winnipeg at the home of her parents, Dr. and Mrs. R. Nash, Pemberton Road, yesterday afternoon. In the evening Miss Robertson was the guest of honor at a bridge party given by Miss Peggy Hodgins, who entertained at three tables at her home in Fairfield Road.

A surprise party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Gilliland on Monday when a very enjoyable evening was spent in dancing to the strains of Cannucks orchestra. Among those present were the Misses Helen Mahwinney, Marguerite Coworth, Mildred Clarke, Mabel Gilliland, Betty Macmillan, Marjorie Clarke, Eileen Nixon, Claire and Teddy Gilliland, and the Messrs. Frank Ford, Benny Macmillan, Ralph Mahwinney, Doug Macmillan, Ken Clarke, Harold Bradshaw, Reg. Hammond, Owen Newton, Irving Strickland, Lionel Hurlburt, Johnny Wilker and Sam Smith.

Mrs. R. S. Henderson, London, ex-president of the Women's Guild of Empire, was the guest of honor at a luncheon given by the committee of the Alexandra Club on Tuesday.

Bullock Webster was another guest. In addition to Mrs. Henderson and Mrs. Bullock Webster, the following members of the committee were present: Mrs. Alice Thomson, president; Miss Josephine Crease, Mrs. Colin Cummins, Mrs. Healy Ker, Mrs. Kaye Fuckle, Miss Clearhouse and Miss Brown. After adjourning to the library and before commencing an interesting little talk on the work of the league, Mrs. Henderson was presented with a bouquet of pink sweet peas by the president.

Mrs. R. S. Henderson, ex-president of the Women's Guild of Empire, was the guest of the B.C. Dramatic School last evening, when she addressed the students and friends of the school upon the aims and objects of the guild. The audience was warmly appreciative, and at the close of her address Mrs. Henderson was thanked by Major Bullock Webster on her behalf for an entertaining and illuminating half hour. Mrs. Henderson expressed her pleasure in meeting so many daughters of the Empire and members of the Women's Canadian Club, in whose work she is deeply interested. By special request a presentation of Harry Gratton's highly amusing farce, "Buying a Gun," was given by Major Bullock Webster and Mr. J. W. Davis, evoking much applause.

A delightful evening was spent on Friday last at the home of Mrs. A. Snow, 1517 Edgewood Road, when a surprise party was held in honor of Mrs. Bessie Shampney, who is to be married next month. A large number of friends were present. Miss Agnes Sproule, in a few well-chosen words, made the presentation of a beautiful silver bread tray on behalf of those gathered. The room was prettily decorated with pink dahlias. The table looked very pretty with pink and mauve streamers. Mrs. Snow was assisted in serving dainty refreshments by her nieces, Mrs. J. Hender and Mrs. Leonard Cox. Those present were Mrs. H. Scott, Mrs. J. Cox, Mrs. L. Eilers, Mrs. W. McElbourn, Mrs. Agnew, Mrs. J. Hedley, Mrs. L. W. Cox, Mrs. E. Parsons, Mrs. Z. Davis, Mrs. J. Shampney, and Mrs. A. Snow. Misses A. Scott, Marion and Florence McElbourn, Jennie Hedley, Lily Davis, Bessie Shampney, M. McDonald of Vancouver, and B. Bowell of New Westminster.

Appetites are keen

WHEN the meal opens with Puffed Wheat or Puffed Rice, appetites don't lag. Little palates know these wholesome foods taste good. Little stomachs welcome them.

Such a variation from ordinary foods! Big, whole grains made delicious as nutmeats when puffed to eight times normal size.

A wholesome food . . . for it is the whole grain with bran, mineral salts and all . . . satisfying.

Pour whole milk or cream over Puffed Rice or Puffed Wheat and these intriguing grains will coax the child to take its needed milk food.

YOUR BABY and MINE

By MRS. MARY ELDERED

Mrs. Eldered will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to her will bring a personal reply.

REGULAR PHYSICAL HABITS HAVE THEIR MENTAL COUNTERPARTS

In order to build a house we must be careful of each tiny detail. Miscalculating one brick; a mistake in one small calculation will throw the whole edifice out of joint.

The baby is a potential house of habits. Each day he adds to his habits, either good or bad, the perfect adult structure being the result of these early ones inculcated in infancy.

The tiny baby's habits are purely physical ones. He is awakened from birth, at regular hours so that he will learn to wake at these hours and his nursing habits will become established and undeviating. This must be started from the first day of his life. If he is allowed to sleep for five hours one period and is then nursed in two hours, because he is awake and crying, he can never learn regularity.

He must be awakened every four or every three hours after the first two days (during this time a six hours' nursing period is usually held to) and shortly he will wake exactly on these hours.

Bathing should come at a regular time. His hours of recreation will gradually become habitual. Every hour of his day will fit into the schedule his mother has outlined if he will only stick to this schedule conscientiously until it is established. Even if some illness breaks up this schedule the baby will go back to it as soon as he is well and sick babies whose habits are regular are much more easily taken care of and cured because of these fine habits.

Habits of regularity in these matters carry over to mental ones. The person who eats at all hours, who never knows when he is going to do anything and has to expend time and energy thinking about it is going to have mental habits that are just as slipshod. So much of our lives is taken up with the doing of trivial things which deserve no wasted mental effort. One arises and takes a morning bath, eats breakfast at a regular hour and starts the day's work without a thought as to the doing of these things. They are habits which if left undone would cause one discomfort, so much are they a part of daily routine.

Luncheon and dinner should be at regular times because digestion is better when they are. The digestive juices, ready to work at certain hours, will flow more readily than when they are called into duty at any odd time.

The most restless, unhappy and dissatisfied persons are those who have no regular habits whatever. They think they are free because of these lack of habits, but they waste their time thinking about when they shall eat, when they shall do this and that, and their freedom from habit gives them no satisfaction.

Along with a lack of system in one's daily habits goes a lack of system in one's thoughts. The artists who get somewhere; the writers who accomplish something are persons with the ability to stick regularly to their tasks, not the ones who work intermittently. Train the children to have good habits in their daily living and rest assured that one has done all one can to insure them having sane, orderly habits of mind.

EMPRESS TO SAIL FOR ORIENT PORTS

Flagship of Pacific Fleet of C.P.R. to Clear To-morrow;
Capt. Robinson Back

With her regular skipper, Capt. S. Robinson, R.N.R., on the bridge, the E.M.S. Empress of Canada, flagship of the Canadian Pacific fleet on the Pacific, will sail from Victoria to-morrow night bound for Japan, China and the Philippines.

The Canada will arrive here from Vancouver about 5.30 p.m., and after taking on passengers and mail will sail out about 7 o'clock.

Capt. A. J. Halley has had command of the Canada for her last two trips, relieving Capt. Robinson. Capt. Halley will take charge of the Empress of Canada on her next trip, relieving Capt. L. P. Douglas.

FISH DEPLETION IS CAUSE FOR CONCERN

International Fisheries Commission Looks Upon Halibut Situation Gravely

Washington, Aug. 31.—Halibut banks of the North Pacific are being depleted to an extent which gives the International Fisheries Commission grave concern, says an announcement by Deputy Commissioner of Fisheries Louis E. Radcliffe. The Canadian-American Commission is considering the advisability of closing some of the famous banks from which the fishermen bring into British Columbia and Alaska ports about 50,000,000 pounds of halibut every year.

Referring to the report of the chairman of the commission, John P. Babcock of Victoria, B.C., says that experiments have shown that halibut are taken out of Canadian-American waters of the North Pacific too rapidly, and that the fishermen are being driven to seek new fishing grounds further out to sea. One of the reasons for the depletion is the fact that the halibut are long lived and take from eight to fifteen years to mature.

Artificial propagation is therefore not effective insurance against depletion as the case of many other kinds of fish. The North Pacific banks produce about thirty per cent of the world's consumption of halibut.

MARINE NOTES

Sa. Canadian Rover of the Canadian Government Merchant Marine service arrived here at 7 o'clock this morning to discharge California cargo. She sailed from Vancouver about 9.40 o'clock.

Sa. Southwestern Miller of the Furmen (Pacific) Line is due September 12 from the United Kingdom. King Bros. local agents, are advised.

Lumber Vessels Sail From Port

Two vessels which have been loading lumber at the Outer Docks during the last few days got away yesterday.

Sa. Levenbank cleared last evening for Capetown with a capacity cargo of lumber, several hundred thousand feet of which were taken on here.

Sa. Poldenford sailed at 5 o'clock for Port Alberni to complete her lumber cargo for Boston and Atlantic ports.

TOYAMA MARU IS DELAYED BY FOG

Arrived Early This Afternoon
From Orient; Discharges
Here

Delayed several hours in the straits by fog the Nippon Yusen Kaisha trans-Pacific freighter Toyama Maru did not dock here until after 1 o'clock to-day from the Far East.

The Toyama was expected here at 7 o'clock this morning, but when dense fog halted her at the entrance to the straits, she anchored off Switzburg lightship, proceeding with her voyage later in the morning.

The Toyama discharged thirty-two tons of general cargo and twenty-three bags of mail before continuing to Seattle.

Sues Because He Was Hurt After Drinking Liquor

Kelso, Wash., Aug. 31.—Alleging that liquor supplied by the defendant company caused him to fall into an open hatch of the steamship Silverado and receive permanent injuries, John C. Pendergast of Seattle yesterday filed suit in superior court here for $60,475.75 from the Silverado Steamship Company, a subsidiary of the McCormick Steamship Company.

The incident, Pendergast says, occurred early in the morning of January 2, 1925, while the Silverado was in the Seattle harbor. It is the custom of the company, the plaintiff avers, to provide the masters of its vessels with "entertaining accounts" in the form of large quantities of liquor for the purpose of entertaining persons who might be influential in getting business for the concern.

In accordance with this policy, the master of the vessel called at Pendergast's home with six quarts of liquor, the complaint alleges. Much of it was consumed during the night, and in the morning Pendergast and his family drove down to the ship, at the invitation of the skipper, for breakfast. Shortly after boarding the vessel Pendergast fell down the hatch with resultant injuries.

PASSENGERS OF CHARLOTTE ARE REPORTED SAFE

Were Taken Off by U.S.
Vessel at Wrangell; no
One Injured

Went Ashore Near Wrangell
Narrows Last Night But Re-flooded Herself Later

Sa. Princess Charlotte, C.P.R. coastwise vessel which struck on Vichinskii Rock, near Wrangell Narrows, last night, was refloated less than three hours after the accident happened and is thought to-day by the B.C. Coast Steamship Service to be at the town of Wrangell.

All of the 250 passengers aboard the Princess Charlotte were safely transferred to the U.S. Coast and Geodetic survey ship Explorer, and are also believed to be at Wrangell, which is approximately twenty miles from the scene of the grounding. A cannery tug was dispatched from Wrangell to the aid of the vessel, and several other vessels rushed from different ports to the stranded ship. Sa. Salvage King left Victoria at 2 a.m. to-day and is expected to arrive at Wrangell the day after to-morrow.

NO PANIC
According to messages received by Capt. J. W. Troup, manager of the B.C. Coast Steamship Service, from Capt. C. S. Salty, of the Charlotte, last night, there was no panic of any kind when the vessel struck and the transferring of the vessel's load was done in a calm, unhurried manner. No one was injured, all reports received here indicate.

The Charlotte struck Vichinskii Rock, which is situated in Summer Strait, several miles south of Wrangell Narrows and about twenty miles from the Alaskan town of Wrangell. The accident occurred at 9:23 p.m., when the vessel was proceeding at dead slow speed in the fog. It is reported, and refloated herself about midnight when the tide rose.

As far as can be ascertained from scanty details reaching Victoria by wire, the hull of the vessel was not badly punctured and owing to the double construction of her bottom, she took very little water. After refloating herself, wireless messages said, she was unable to proceed under her own power owing to mishap to her propeller, the machinery was called in tow for Wrangell by tugs which immediately proceeded to her aid.

LARGE LIST
The passenger list of the Charlotte was estimated by Capt. R. W. McMurray, Vancouver superintendent of the company, as about 250. Travel at this particular time of the year is heavy owing to the many people returning from the summer resorts. The vessel was booked almost to the limit of her capacity, it is thought. To accommodate the passengers with all speed, the company dispatched the Sa. Princess Alice from Vancouver this morning to bring down the Charlotte's list. The Alice left Vancouver at 11.30 a.m.

When the accident happened the Charlotte was southbound for Vancouver and was due at that port Friday. She was running in the Summer Alaska run of the B.C. Coast Service and this was her last southward trip for the summer season.

The Princess Charlotte was launched at Glasgow in 1908. She is a steel twin-screw vessel, 330 feet long, forty-five feet seven inches in beam, with a draft of fifteen feet two inches. Her day passenger capacity is 1,500. Her speed is 20.5 knots.

LOSES DAMAGE SUIT

Vancouver, Aug. 31.—Holding that provincial legislation failed to effect the jurisdiction of the Admiralty Court, Mr. Justice Martin has awarded judgment of $30,000 against the steamship company of British Columbia in favor of the widow and two children of Erik Dageland, fisherman, who lost his life when the Catala ran down his boat near the mouth of the Skeena River.

Areas Closed to Salmon Fishing Will be Reopened

All of the fishing areas of the province which were closed to salmon fishing by nets at the commencement of this week will be open again at the start of next week, according to an announcement made by the Department of Marine and Fisheries. Fishing district No. 3 will be reopened at 6 a.m. next Monday, it is announced. The portion of district No. 3, embracing the area from Cape Caution, just south of Smith's Inlet to the Alaskan boundary, and including the Queen Charlotte Islands, has already been announced reopened at 6 p.m. Sunday.

INDIA IS MARKET FOR B.C. POTATOES

C.P.R. Agent at Singapore
Says Far Easterners Have Liking For Product

Vancouver, Aug. 31.—The big mealy potato from British Columbia has achieved a reputation in India, Malaysia Peninsula and the Islands of the South Sea, according to William Watson, traffic agent for the Canadian National Railways at Singapore. The difficulty is for the people down there to get the potatoes from British Columbia.

"A wonderful market exists in the Dutch Island possessions for Canadian potatoes," states Mr. Watson. "Some two years ago several importers brought potatoes from British Columbia into that territory and the people liked the fine grade, but since then they have been difficult to obtain."

Bids for the purchase of the light-house tender Madrona were opened yesterday in the custom house, and the Crowley Launch and Tugboat Company was high bidder with an offer of $250. The bids are to be held in abeyance pending their submission to officials at Washington, D.C.

SAN FRANCISCO SHIPPING

San Francisco, Aug. 31.—H. C. Cantelero & Son, agents for the Canadian-American Shipping Company of Vancouver, announced yesterday that the company is contemplating plans to extend its United Kingdom-Continental service to include San Francisco and regular monthly post of call. Heretofore the company confined its European service to fortnightly sailings at British Columbia and Puget Sound. Present plans call for the first vessel of the line to arrive here about October 15.

With the cargo holds filled to capacity and with 440 passengers, the N.Y.K. liner Siburi Maru sailed yesterday for the Orient. Among the passengers was S. Nagakawa, one of the leading lumber importers of Japan, who has been on an inspection trip to the lumber mills of the Coos Bay district.

Bids for the purchase of the light-house tender Madrona were opened yesterday in the custom house, and the Crowley Launch and Tugboat Company was high bidder with an offer of $250. The bids are to be held in abeyance pending their submission to officials at Washington, D.C.

GRAIN CHARTER

Seattle, Aug. 31.—Chartering of a steamship at 35s 3d, equivalent to 30s 6d at Seattle, Portland or Tacoma, to load grain from Vancouver, B.C., to the United Kingdom and the Continent was reported here yesterday by cable from London. The terms are the highest of the season, indicating strengthening of the charter market, with consequent increased activity among charterers. The charter market had been quiet since the last few days, when three fixtures at 35s from Puget Sound or Columbia River at two or three shillings more than any fixtures since June. The advance to 30s 6d means that tonnage which has been held back, particularly Japanese bottoms, probably will be secured before further striking advances are made.

Chartering of the Henry D. Whitson to load a full lumber cargo from Gray Harbor for New York was announced by the Johnson Shipping Company. The Santa Ana of the Santa Ana Steamship Company was drydocked here for overhauling following a Summer in Siberian waters.

Victoria Rinks Are Selected To Oppose
Old Country Bowlers

Seven Skips Will Pit Skill
Against Britishers; Two to Play Ontario

Strong Rinks Assembled in Order to Test Visitors; Enertainment Arranged

Officials of the Victoria Lawn Bowling Club have finally decided upon the rinks which will oppose the British bowlers here on Thursday, September 1, at Beacon Hill. The rinks will be skipped by James Ransie, Tom McCosh, H. Benwick, Tom Renfrew, Harry Wright, Harry Mills and Alex McKeachie. Two other rinks to play the Ontario bowlers will be skipped by H. Ferguson and D. H. Bryce.

The British bowlers, accompanied by two rinks from the Ontario Lawn Bowling Association, will arrive in Victoria on Wednesday evening next. This will be the first time in history that an Old Country bowling team has visited Vancouver Island, and followers of the game are looking forward with keen interest to the games that are to be played here.

HAVE DONE WELL

The British bowlers have been playing a series of matches in all the leading cities of Canada, and have been successful in most of their fixtures. They will find strong opposition on the coast, and the British Columbia Lawn Bowling Association has set a very high standard. The clubs in Victoria and Vancouver have taken pains to pick well-balanced rinks to meet the English, and all those who attend will be rewarded with some keen play.

The British bowlers will play at Powell River on Wednesday and cross over to Deep Bay, B.C., where they will be brought by motor to Victoria, arriving here in the evening.

TO PLAY AT BURNISIDE

On Thursday they will play their match at the Victoria Lawn Bowling Club, commencing at 10 o'clock. After the match they will be taken for a drive and lunch at Hamlet's Lake-side, then proceeding to the Burnside Lawn Bowling Club, where they will enjoy another match. In the evening the visitors will be tendered a civic banquet at the Hudson's Bay.

The rinks selected by the Victoria Lawn Bowling Club to meet the Britishers are as follows:

F. R. Exham, J. Patterson, Wm. MacKay and Joe Ransie, skip.
T. Lowe, A. Marconini, G. Blundell and T. McCosh, skip.
Wm. Little, W. Barbour, R. Tutthill and H. Benwick, skip.
T. Mayne, D. Breckenridge, G. Stevenson and T. Renfrew, skip.
J. Fullerton, C. E. Brown, A. H. Parker and E. H. Wright, skip.
A. Macaulay, W. H. Cullin, A. B. McNeill and H. V. Mills, skip.
A. T. Broderick, C. E. Greenhill, D. Dewar and A. McKee, skip.

The local rinks to play Ontario will be as follows:

J. A. Stewart, J. E. Johnson, F. W. Davey and D. H. Bryce, skip.
J. L. White, J. E. Day, W. McAllan and H. Ferguson, skip.
The Burnside rinks have not been chosen as yet.
The British bowlers are as follows: Scotland—E. Brodie, Kilmarlock Bowling Club; J. M. Ferguson, Glasgow; J. Macdonald, Glasgow; J. E. Fleming, Prestwick and Strathaven Bowling Club; William Inglis, Whitevale Bowling Club; Glasgow; Arthur H. Keitch, Glasgow; Walter Brown, Glasgow; Robert Lawson, Hyndland Bowling Club; Glasgow; David Lowe, Mus-selburgh Bowling Club; G. A. Leitch, Glasgow; Alex. Malcolm, Grosvenor Bowling Club; Greenock; John McLaren, Edinburgh Bowling Club; William Pearson, Burnside Bowling Club; Glasgow; William Reekie, Cowden-beath Bowling Club; James Smith, Whitevale Bowling Club; Glasgow; George Thomson, Dean Bowling Club; Edinburgh; George Young, Watfield Bowling Club; Ayr.
England—Robert Brown, Jr., Gervard's Cross Bowling Club; Bucks; James Keirney, Atherton Bowling Club; Southampton; Ernest Everard, Kettering Lodge Bowling Club; Northants; Sir George Royle, Kettering Bowling Club; Bedford; R. W. Townsend, Stroud Bowling Club; Gloucestershire; William F. Wade, Hinkley Bowling Club; Leicestershire; Geo. Wright, Kettering Lodge Bowling Club; Northants.

Wales—W. McAllister, Bridgend Bowling Club; Glam.; F. C. Newton, Penarth Bowling Club; Cardiff; N. C. Poole, Cardiff Bowling Club; F. J. Thomas, Cardiff Bowling Club.
Ireland—William Clarke, Ballymena Bowling Club.

Members of Uplands
Golf Club Asked To Attend Annual Meet

Every member of the Uplands Golf Club is requested to attend the annual general meeting to be held to-morrow night at 8 o'clock in the auditorium of the Sport-Shaw School, Welles Block.

Reports on the year's activities will be read while the election of the general committee will take place.

Discontinue Meals

No evening meals will be served at the Victoria Golf Club after to-day. Luncheon and afternoon teas will be served as usual.

RESULT A SURPRISE

Chicago, Aug. 31.—Johnny Hill of the Philippines won a surprising victory over Eddie Shea of Chicago in a featherweight championship elimination contest here last night. Hill floored Shea in the first round. They both weighed in at 125 pounds.

WILL RIDE HERE

JIM DAVIES
This brilliant young rider, who holds the Canadian mile and half-mile championships, will compete in the bicycle meet at the Royal Athletic Park on Labor Day.

Provincial Records
Expected To Crack
At Bicycle Meeting

Best Riders in Vancouver Will Be Here on Monday; Local Boys in Pink

Track is in Great Shape; Will Ride For Moody Cup in Evening at Hill

Existing British Columbia bicycle records will more than likely be ridden with holes at the Royal Athletic Park on Monday afternoon after the boys finish their day's work. The track, which is now the fastest in British Columbia, has been specially prepared for the big meet, which is being conducted by the Victoria Cycling Club and there is no question but that some records will be knocked over.

The best riders in the Province will compete. Vancouver is sending over a very formidable contingent, headed by Jim Davies, who holds the half-mile and mile Canadian championships as well as the one-mile B.C. title. The Littlejohn boys, Macdonald and several other prominent mainland boys will be here.

EDENS WILL BE THERE

Bill Peden of Victoria, who holds the B.C. two-mile title, will be in the saddle, as well as the rest of the Peden family, Sam, Jackson, McCready, and several other promising riders.

So far twenty-eight entries have been received for the meet. Three B.C. championships will be at stake. The program for the meet is as follows: One mile novice; one-fourth mile open; one-half mile handicap; boys under fourteen; one-half mile B.C. championship; one mile handicap; boys under sixteen; two mile handicap; open; one mile junior B.C. championship; boys under seventeen years; five mile B.C. championship.

AFTER MOODY CUP

In the evening a host of the riders who compete at the Royal Athletic Park will assemble at the starting point at Beacon Hill for the annual ten-mile race for the Moody Cup. This trophy, which is now the property of Vancouver, will find plenty of hot opposition this year.

Little Money Being Waged on Sculling
Race at Vancouver

Vancouver, Aug. 31.—Major Goodsell, who will defend his world's single sculling title Labor Day over the Port Moody course against Bert Barry, his English challenger, relaxed Tuesday while the latter had a hard row. Goodsell appears perfectly satisfied with his trial last Sunday, and is taking no chances, having reached the peak of condition, of becoming stale. He did two miles in the morning, a mile up and back, and repeated the performance in the evening. The four miles was composed of minute rows and starts.
Barry did two miles fast off the mark, but then slowed down. Barry, too, is satisfied with his form, and Goodsell will meet a confident and determined sculler when he, as champion, gives the word to go.
There has been no extensive wagering reported as yet, but there appears to be a lot of Barry money in sight. What few bets made were at even money, and many fans are waiting to see what odds are offered from the champion's camp. The general opinion is that Goodsell as title holder should go to the line a favorite.

Pittsburgh Break Even in Double-header While St.
Louis Lose Game

New York, Aug. 31.—The Cubs have played their last game of the season in the Polo Grounds in New York. Joe McCarthy's outfit may visit the metropolis next October, to play the Yankees, but they will have to get out of a bad slump that continued on through three straight games against the Giants. The Cubs came here with a five and one-half game lead over the Giants and departed with a lead of two and one-half games.

Leslie Mann started the Giants on the way to their seventh straight victory yesterday by smothering the first ball pitched by Percy Jones for a home run. The Giants won 7-3.

New York has won twenty-two out of its last twenty-eight games and today was right on the heels of the Cardinals and the Pirates.

VANCE TAMES CHAMPIONS

St. Louis had an opportunity to get back into second place but the lowly Dodger smothered the Cardinals 2-1 in 9.

Pittsburgh had to be content with an even break against Philadelphia yesterday, losing the first game 3-2, but winning the second 12-6. Hub Pruet outpitched Kremer in the opener and gained the verdict when his team's eleven hits cut two runs in the tenth after the Pirates had scored a run in their half of the inning.

"Moon" Harris strided in the second game by hitting third singles and a double and driving in six of the Pirates' runs.

The Boston Braves returned to winning form by beating Cincinnati 3-1 in 9.

Christianity allowed only four hits against the forty-one batters who faced him.

PART OF DEMPSEY'S DAILY DOZEN

Jack Dempsey has started vigorous training at Chicago for the bout on September 22 with Gene Tunney, world's heavyweight champion. Jack is shown in the above picture doing some roadwork with some of his handlers. The little gent second from the left is Leo P. Flynn, the crafty ringman who is now Dempsey's manager. Flynn is one of the smartest ring men in the business and much of the credit for Dempsey's return to something like his old-time form in his battle with Jack Sharkey must be given to Flynn.

Christian Wins Golf
Title by One Stroke
Over Walter Pursey

Tacoma, Aug. 31.—Neil Christian, professional, Waverley Golf Club, Port-land, Ore., won the Washington State open golf championship at the Firecrest Golf Club here yesterday, when Walter Pursey, of the Inglewood Golf Club, Seattle, defending champion, missed a ten-foot putt on the last green which would have tied with Christian.

Christian's score for the seventy-two holes was 288, while Pursey's was 290. Both had the same scores, 147, for the thirty-six hole play yesterday.

OUR SERIAL STORY

"The Wife & Co."

By LYLE HAMILTON

"It's an honest diamond," said that lady, after a long and critical inspection. She put the ring on her own finger and held it up to the light. "Did he pay cash for it?"

"No," said Molly, reluctantly.

"That's the trouble with young fellows," said the older woman, "they're not to be trusted. They're always so poor! Then they get married so they can stay poor."

"I think," stated Molly, "that woman is a lot more saving than men are."

"A woman will pinch a dime until it squeaks, when it's a matter of lunch or something like that," said Mrs. Potter, "and then go and blow five dollars out of her husband's thirty-dollar pay check to get a parcel and a face massage. I've done it myself. A man—well, you've got to learn that men are funny. They'll blow themselves to a ring like this one," she held up the platinum band with its glistening stone—"and for some reason it makes 'em humble to get married. They'll encourage your sweetie to spend his money—he's made a good start. Most women haven't sense enough to do that."

Molly flushed scarlet. "I don't think a man ought to keep himself broke," she returned.

Mrs. Potter whirled upon her. "What have you been doing?" she demanded. "Have you started trying to run that boy's affairs already?"

CHAPTER XIV.

Molly's face remained red, but she held her ground. "I've got a right to discuss things with the man I'm going to marry," she said.

Mrs. Potter gave back the ring, and then pressing both hands upon the girl's shoulders thrust her into a chair.

"I'm a fine old crook to be giving anybody advice," she said. "I made a flop of my married life and pretty nearly as bad a flop since then. But I've seen a lot. Listen here, girl. You've been away from your folks two or three years. You've been boss of your own life. You feel you're set to boss your husband's life, too."

"I don't either," said Molly. "And you haven't any right to lecture me!"

"I know I haven't, but I'm going to anyhow. No. Sit down," Mrs. Potter quelled a movement by Molly to arise. "Let me tell you something. You may not believe it, but I was a pretty girl too, once. I think I knew everything. Thought what I did was about right. Had a lot of fellows hanging round, and when I married Bill Potter I thought I was doing him the biggest favor ever heard of. Well—her eyes crinkled in amusement—"the poor fish just before we were married went and bought himself two suits of clothes. Maybe I didn't land on him! I told him it was practically my money he was spending, and he ought to have talked to me about it."

Molly reddened again, but said nothing.

"He said he bought 'em so I wouldn't be ashamed of him! Then, after we were married, he bought a bicycle—said he wanted it to ride to work on. I nearly left him that time. I just raised hob. By and by he got so he didn't buy anything more, without asking permission."

Mrs. Potter had been standing up to this point. Now she took a chair, and rocked.

"So I spent his money for him, after that. Spent it on things I wanted. He lost his nerve so—would you believe it?" She leaned far over to emphasize the point with her forefinger. "He was afraid to take a new job unless he asked me about it! Of course, women have no business judgment. I told him what to do, and usually I told him wrong."

"I wouldn't treat a husband that way," said Molly.

"Of course you would," said her companion, "if he'd let you. You've started operating on him already."

"I only told him he shouldn't have spent so much for this ring, and—"

Molly hesitated.

"And what?"

"Why, I thought it might help him save money if he gave me the money to put in the bank for him."

Mrs. Potter stood up. "Girl," she said, "you get hold of that boy as soon as you can and crawl! Cry on his shoulder and tell him you're a chump! Beg him to forgive you. Tell him he's too big and strong to let a fool woman ruin him!"

"But—"

"But nothing!" Mrs. Potter fairly shouted. "When you hammer at a man until he's on his knees, he's on his knees to everybody. Haven't you sense enough to know that? Get out of here and go to bed. You make me mad."

The landlady stamped in her kitchen and slammed the door. Molly, much downcast, obeyed directions, and going to her own room crawled into bed, where she lay awake a long time, thinking.

She did not follow Mrs. Potter's instructions next day in dealing with Brownell. For one thing, she had no opportunity.

The youth was at his desk when she came into the office, and he raised his eyes only long enough to nod as she went to the coat rack. A few minutes later he was gone.

Molly opened her desk, arranged her sleeve-protectors, dusted her typewriter and set back water for Mr. Fraser's floor to open. When he was absent, the door always stood ajar. It was shut now, so he was within, and busy.

She swung around and looked speculatively at the desk Sticks used, in the far corner of the room.

Mrs. Potter had said: "If you hammer at a man until he's on his knees, he's on his knees to everybody." Sticks was said to be on his knees to his wife.

The door of Mr. Fraser's office swung open. Sticks, the office manager, backed out, making little feeble gestures toward his superior, who was shouting.

"—and the next time I tell you to do anything, you poor prune, don't come whining around with a lot of big words," boomed the president's big voice.

Sticks closed the door hastily behind him, and paused to square his shoulders and get rid of the general air of disorder he had worn.

On his knees to everybody! It was a heaven-sent opportunity.

Molly arose and blocked Sticks's way

BEDTIME STORY

How Uncle Wiggily Was Saved

Copyright, 1927, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

(By HOWARD R. GARRIS)

Standing up in his wash tub, with his little rabbit boy Bumper and Jumper on either side of him, Uncle Wiggily wondered what he could do to save himself and the children. He was not a good swimmer—few rabbit gentlemen are—but were the boys. Once they flopped into the ocean, as they would be sure to do when their boat filled and sank, they might drown.

"But we'll catch them before they drown!" chuckled the Saw Fish.

"That's what we will!" laughed his cousin, the Saw Fish.

These two had chaps had made Uncle Wiggily's wash tub leak, as I told you in the story last night. The Saw Fish had told his cousin what to do and the Saw Fish had done it—sawing a hole in the bottom of the tub so the water leaked in.

"Daddicus!" asked Jumper as he stood in the water now up to his knees beside his father, "this is an adventure, isn't it?"

"That's what we will!" laughed his cousin, the Saw Fish.

These two had chaps had made Uncle Wiggily's wash tub leak, as I told you in the story last night. The Saw Fish had told his cousin what to do and the Saw Fish had done it—sawing a hole in the bottom of the tub so the water leaked in.

"Daddicus!" asked Jumper as he stood in the water now up to his knees beside his father, "this is an adventure, isn't it?"

"That's what we will!" laughed his cousin, the Saw Fish.

"What's the matter?" asked the Turtle.

"Indeed it is, but not a jolly one," answered the rabbit gentleman.

"What are we going to do?" asked Bumper. "The water is getting deeper all the while," which was true enough. "And we are far from shore, Daddicus!" he added, which was even more true.

"We must call again for help!" decided Mr. Longears. "Your mother or Nurse Jane in the shell cottage may hear us and come out in another wash tub to save us."

"So all together the three rabbits cried: 'Help! Help! Help!' but they could get no more help than their mother can sometimes, when the cook suddenly leaves and company is coming. Nurse Jane or Mrs. Longears did not hear the call.

"There is something swimming in the water," said Jumper, pointing a paw at some rippling waves, while the water in the leaking tub boat grew deeper. "Maybe that is a submarine boat coming to save us, Daddy."

But Uncle Wiggily, with his sharper eyes, saw the Saw and Sword Fishes swimming about, hungrily waiting. As long as the rabbits remained in the tub the fish could not get them, but once the tub sank, then all would be over.

"That is no end coming to save us," said Mr. Longears as he noticed the sharp and jagged snouts on the two fishes. "They are our enemies. We cannot expect help from them!"

"Maybe if we paddled hard we could get the tub to shore before it sank," said Jumper.

"Let's try!" cried Bumper. But even as they paddled, the wash tub sank lower and lower in the sea until the water was almost coming in over the edge. And just then, when Uncle Wiggily was almost ready to give up, there came swimming alongside of the tub the big sea turtle who, some time before, had given the little rabbits many rides on his broad, shelly back.

"What's the matter?" asked the turtle.

"The Saw Fish made a hole in our boat and we are sinking!" cried Uncle

Wiggily.

"I will save you!" promised the turtle. "Now listen carefully, for I must dive beneath the waves where you can't see me or hear me speak. I am going to swim under the bottom of your tub, and I will plug up the hole in it with some seaweed. Then I will swim along beneath it and hold the bunch of seaweed in place by pushing upon it with my back. As soon as you see that the hole is plugged, begin to bail the water out of your tub. Throw the water overboard. Your boat will then float higher and you can paddle to shore."

"But we have no pails with which to bail out the water," said Bumper.

"Uncle Wiggily has his tail silk hat," and you boys have your caps," croaked the turtle. "They will do nicely. Now I am going to dive under and plug up the hole."

So saying the turtle sank beneath the waves. A little later, looking down through the water in the tub, which was now over his knees, Uncle Wiggily saw a bunch of seaweed appear in the hole the Saw Fish had made. Then the rabbit daddy cried:

"Bail, boys! Bail for your lives!" All three began to toss the water overboard. The tub grew lighter and rose higher on the waves. The turtle beneath it held the seaweed plug in place with his broad back and, by flopping his flippers, he helped push the tub toward shore.

When all the water had been bailed out Uncle Wiggily and the two boys began to use their wooden paddles and soon they came close to shore and were saved. The Saw and Sword Fishes could not get at the turtle to harm him because of his thick shell, and they dared not follow the tub into shallow water for fear of getting stuck on a sand-bar. So the bunny and his two little boys were saved, and they thanked the turtle heartily. And if the pussy cat will dip her tail in red ink and make a picture of the puppy dog on the wallpaper, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the Pirate Cave.

"The Stars incline, But Do Not Compel"

(Copyright)

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 1, 1927

Benefic stars dominate to-day, according to astrology, which finds the planetary government favorable for most human activities.

This is pre-eminently a day for signing contracts and entering into business agreements of importance.

There is a sign read as auspicious for publicity, especially for that which is connected with new contracts or enterprises.

Advertising is subject to influences stimulation faith in the value of every sort of publicity.

Fair promise is read in this configuration for men who hold important official positions, for the stars indicate continuance of high place.

Newspapers and magazines will prosper greatly and it is foretold that literary folk will benefit.

There appears to be more cause for rejoicing in domestic conditions affecting the United States. Great prosperity is indicated.

Weddings to-day are subject to the most auspicious forecast, for steady progress and continued good fortune appear to be presaged by the planets.

This is a lucky day for all who seek employment, and should secure for applicants just the right opportunities.

Public work should be deferred by women, who should be quiescent in all political matters.

Quarrels may be easily precipitated to-day, for difference of opinions are readily brought about.

Persons whose birthdate it is probably will have a year in which many favors come to them. Good news is foretold.

Children born on this day probably will be especially blessed with good memories.

Vancover Residents Are to Visit Sumas

Vancover, Aug. 31.—Wednesday, September 7, is the date decided upon by the Vancouver Liberal Association for the excursion to Sumas to plant a conduct. Arrangements have been made to go by motor omnibus, leaving at 10 a.m., having luncheon at Chilliwack, inspecting the harvesting operations on the prairie during the afternoon and returning in the early evening.

Premier J. D. Maclean and Hon. E. D. Barrow, Minister of Agriculture of British Columbia, will accompany the party and at a convenient place address the crowd on various phases of the great undertaking by which the vast fertile area has been reclaimed. Opportunity will be given to inspect the dykes and the pumping system.

A TOUCH OF THE PAST.

SASKATCHEWAN HEN MAKES EGG RECORDS

Saskatoon, Aug. 31.—A Barred Plymouth Rock hen, owned by the University of Saskatchewan, has made a new record for egg production.

Completing her bullet year yesterday morning, this hen champion has to her credit a total of 339 eggs in 365 days. Not only is this a new record for Barred Plymouth Rocks, but as far as is known, it is a new record for all heavy breeds of poultry.

This bird was bred and raised by the poultry department of the university. She is known as H-3403.

RECORDS COMPARED

Vancouver, Aug. 31.—According to Prof. E. A. Lloyd of the University of British Columbia, custodian of the famous hen No. 6, holder of the world record for the total production of 351 eggs in a year, The Saskatoon hen has set up a world record for Barred Plymouth Rocks, and a record for this continent for heavy-weight birds. The former North American record for heavy birds was held by Lady Mary, also a barred rock, owned by French Brothers at Newmarket, Ont. Lady Mary's record was 353, which H-3403 has now surpassed by six.

The world record for heavy breeds is held by a Black Orpington bred in Australia, whose achievement was 347. This, however, was the record of hen No. 6, was the world record for all breeds. This record, however, Prof. Lloyd explains, was made in a single nest, whereas the Saskatoon hen has accomplished its performance in a trap nest, where the conditions are less favorable.

Prof. Lloyd said he had seen the Saskatoon hen and two weeks ago, when she had laid 322 eggs with seventeen days to go, and it was apparent she had laid every day since.

"I wish to pay a tribute to Prof. Baker of the University of Saskatchewan for having bred this bird," he said, "it is a most remarkable looking hen, and I picked it out from among a number by its fine looking head."

AUSTRALIAN CLAIM

Prof. Lloyd confirmed that the laurels of hen No. 6, the marvelous little white leghorn of the University of British Columbia, had been heard from Australia that a Black Orpington has laid 354 eggs, three better than the record of hen No. 6. If this should be confirmed as an official test the championship would go from Canada to Australia, he stated.

New U.S. Moves Against Rum Flow

Washington, Aug. 31.—Tightening of the Federal prohibition guard against the flow of liquor into the United States along the international boundary between Buffalo and Lake Huron and in the Pacific Northwest is being planned under plans announced by Assistant Secretary Lowman of the Treasury, in charge of prohibition enforcement. The patrol force along the Great Lakes from Buffalo to Lake Huron, which includes Detroit, is to be doubled from 200 to 400 men.

In a scheme to improve enforcement conditions in the Northwest, Lowman called Roy C. Lyle, administrator for Washington, Oregon and Alaska, into a conference here yesterday to explain the flow of liquor into the Northwest.

If Lyle was not able to explain the conditions satisfactorily it was indicated "positive steps" would be taken and the district would be partially reorganized.

Mr. Lowman said the "prohibition violations in the Northwestern states are numerous, serious and very bad, and there is altogether too much liquor coming in." He declared the administration machinery in Lyle's district was not functioning "as efficiently as might be desired."

It has been reported in the capital that Lyle might leave the service.

That Gift Horse

By OLIVE ROBERTS HARTON

The Romans had a wise saying, "I fear the Greeks though they bear gifts."

I do not wish to imply that all who would make us presents are not to be trusted. But often the things that we seemingly get for nothing, cost us a pretty penny in the end. It may be wise to consider the motive behind a favor before accepting.

A family spent a month in a mountain cabin free of rent one Summer. The owner of the lodge had written upon his card, "We are not going to be in the place this year, so you may as well go up and make yourselves at home. Won't cost you a cent of rent and you may as well have it. We feel safer with someone in it—forest fires and things like that, you know."

Since that time the owner of the lodge, his wife and two children have made all motor trips include the friend's town, and have stopped several times each year a week at a time at the friend's house.

A woman was going away on an unexpected journey. A friend happened to come in when she was packing. "Oh, do take my chiffon dress," she begged. "It's too tight for me, anyway, and it would just fit you. You'll probably need something cool like this. Do take it."

It was easier to accept than to refuse, although the woman did not want the dress. She has been called upon ever since to lend her generous friend almost every article of wearing apparel she owns.

A family returning from a trip found their lawn neatly mowed. A neighbor came, along and admitted that he was the good Samaritan.

The following winter, friend neighbor went to Florida. As he left he said heartily to the stay-at-home whose lawn he had mowed, "I know you will look after my pavement and not let the snow get tramped in. There is a new law, you know, that puts a fine on property owners with slippery sidewalks."

Two months of snow-shoveling for two hours of grass cutting? They say not to look a gift-horse in the mouth. But be sure the horse does not have a snout and a curly tail.

A Goofy said, with autumn face.

THE FLYING DUTCHMAN

BY HAL COCHRAN

READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE

Wee Clowzy, high up in the tree, watched Mister Bear, and said, "Oh, see, you don't know how relieved I am. I'm filled with aching bones. I guess that I can come down now, and cross the little stream somehow. In case the bear comes back again, be sure and have some stones."

Said Scouty, "Oh, he's gone for good. He ran just as we thought he would. I guess that you would also run, if rocks were thrown at you. We didn't want to hurt the bear, but threw the rocks to give a scare. It was a happy little lurch, and worked out perfect, too."

Then Clowzy slid right down the tree. He was as graceful as could be. The others laughed to see him slide and land upon the ground. Well, here I am," wee Clowzy cried. "And now to reach the other side of this wide stream. I wonder where a big plank can be found."

A Goofy said, with autumn face.

Open Air Church Service at Banff

Banff Springs, Alta., Aug. 31.—A rustic pulpit of logs is being built at Sundance Canyon in connection with the Banff Highland gathering for Rev. Dr. C. W. Gordon, otherwise known as "Ralph Connor," who will conduct an open air service on the morning of Sunday, September 4, in the setting of crag and canyon which played so large a part in some of his novels. The singing of the congregation will be led by the Scottish Choir of Calgary, and the psalms and anthems selected are all identified with the great religious movement of Scottish history. First of all will be the Hundredth Psalm, the metrical version of which was written by a Scot of the sixteenth century named William Keble to the setting of the tune found in the Geneva Psalter of 1551. Then the appropriate psalm, "I to the hills will lift mine eyes," will be sung to the tune named "French," which was a favorite with the Covenanters. This will be followed by psalms 78, "In Judah's Land," which was sung by the Covenanters at Drumclog before making their final dispositions for battle and for safeguarding their women and children. It was sung to the tune "Martyrs," which is still found in the Presbyterian Book of Praise used in Canada. Three versions of psalms and paraphrases recently arranged with Paul Bourdon by Hugh S. Robertson of the Glasgow Orpheus Choir will be rendered, including two which were favorites with the Auld Seceders.

In the evening Dr. Gordon will preach in the St. Paul's Presbyterian Church at Banff, of which he was at one time the minister.

FOUR TEACHERS ARE ADDED TO CITY SCHOOLS

City School Board Completes Preparations For Opening of Fall Term

Four Vacancies Filled in Graded Schools of City; Increased Attendance

To fill vacancies in the graded schools of the city four appointments to the teaching staff were made by the City School Board at a meeting held yesterday afternoon. Miss M. L. Hobkirk, Miss Madge Daniels, Miss Elsie R. Parfitt and Miss Florence R. Porter were selected from the applicants and will be attached to the Victoria public schools staff.

In making his report to the trustees yesterday, George H. Deane, Municipal Inspector, told of a slight increase in the number of students who will attend the Fall term in city schools. This increase is general throughout the city and comes from children reaching school age and also to some extent from the influx of new settlement.

During the summer months officials of the board were receiving registrations for the new term, the lists being almost complete at this time. The Fall term opens on Tuesday, with a general return of students to the public schools of the city after the summer vacation.

SUDDEN DEATH OF STEWART OFFICIAL

William C. Cameron, Postmaster Since 1910, Passed Away Monday

The death occurred suddenly at Stewart, B.C., on Monday evening, of William Caverhill Cameron, postmaster and collector of customs at the Portland Canal port, according to word which reached the city yesterday.

The late Mr. Cameron was born in Montreal and went up to Stewart about twenty-two years ago, and was employed by the Stewart Land Company until the opening of the post-office in 1909. He was then appointed acting postmaster and in 1910 was confirmed in the position of postmaster, retaining that post until the time of his death. He was very well known throughout the Portland Canal district, also in Victoria and Vancouver.

He is survived by his widow, two sons, Eric, in the United States, and William in Stewart, also one daughter, Mrs. Jack Gray, of Stewart.

BRITISH MEMBERS OF PARLIAMENT TO VISIT IN CANADA

Parliamentary Association Branches Will Send Delegations in 1928

Invitations to legislators of the United Kingdom to visit Canada in September and October, 1928, together with parliamentarians from other parts of the Empire, have been accepted. The Dominion branch of the Empire Parliamentary Association extended the request to the branches of the British body.

From four to six weeks will be the length of the stay of the visitors on Canadian soil.

The visit is planned with a view to affording Parliament members of the Empire opportunity to see and study for themselves the resources and institutions which make Canada great.

August, 1926, saw a British Parliamentary party pass through Victoria, headed by Lord Salisbury, but they were on their way to Australia, as guests of the Commonwealth Government.

Keating

Keating, Aug. 31.—A jolly children's party took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Young, Keating's Cross Road, in celebration of the birthdays of their son, Karl, and daughter, Eileen, when about seventeen young friends were present. The afternoon was spent in outdoor games and a dainty tea was served at 5.30 o'clock, a birthday cake occupying the centre of the table. After tea indoor games were enjoyed by the little guests, those present being Barbara and Douglas Beaumont, Wilma Ambrose, Letia Dennis, Harry and Ernest Styan, Victor and Leslie Painter, Stewart Anderson, Ewan Rowntree, Tommy and Eric Butler, Roy and Norman Outhbert, Gladys and Albert McCarthy and Eileen and Karl Young.

Miss Eva Ambrose, who has been spending the summer holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Ambrose, Gilles Road, left on Monday for Galliano Island, where she will teach for the next term.

The paper chase arranged by the Junior Institute of South Saanich for Sunday afternoon proved a jolly outing for all present. The chase commenced at Island View Beach and was led by Misses Blanch Sherring and Daris Mitchell. Later in the afternoon supper was enjoyed on the beach.

The United Church Young People of South Saanich held a meeting on Monday evening with a large attendance of members, the vice-president, Albert Hafer, presiding. Miss Alma Heyer acted as secretary in the absence of Miss Ida Heyer. The main part of the evening was taken up with arranging for the picnic to be held at Margaret Bay, Gordon Head, on Labor Day, with the young people from Sidney. Cars will leave the church at 2 o'clock and all young people are invited to attend. The club will present the annual play again this year, some time before Christmas. The next meeting on September 19 will be in charge of the religious conveners. After the meeting a ping pong tournament was arranged by Messrs. Stoddart and Fawson, and refreshments were served by the social committee, Misses Violet McNally and Hazel Lamont.

Metchozin

Metchozin, Aug. 31.—The regular monthly meeting of the Metchozin Women's Institute will be held in the Metchozin Hall on Wednesday, September 7, at 2.30 p.m. Business which has accumulated during the vacation period of the institute will be dealt with and Mrs. Georgeon, convener of home industries, will present the report of her department, which will be followed by a general discussion. Afternoon tea will be served and it is hoped that all members will be present. Visitors will be welcome.

J. H. Smart, an old-time resident of Metchozin, was very successful with his rabbit entries at the recent Provincial Fall Fair, having carried off eight prizes with eight pairs of rabbits, including a first prize in a class of seven.

The Misses Doris J. and Emily C. MacLaren of Toronto, who have been visiting their aunt, Mrs. William Arden of Fern Hollow, Metchozin, have left on their return trip, calling at Seattle en route for Vancouver, and visiting other points of interest.

ESPIONAGE CHARGED

Leningrad, Russia, Aug. 31.—The political police have arrested an alleged group of twenty-six spies, charged with espionage in behalf of the British intelligence service in Finland. Most of the accused, including several women, have held various positions in the army, navy and civil institutions, and are alleged to be in charge of a British naval officer with headquarters in Finland.

CITY PROVIDES FOR INDUSTRIAL EXPANSION HERE

New Water Main on Johnson Street West Will Benefit Industrial Reserve

Twelve-inch Main Needed For Increasing Use and to Provide For Future

An early start on the laying of increased water pressure to the industrial reserve area will be made by the city when the material ordered has been delivered. The twelve-inch piping and fittings ordered for the work is now arriving, and actual work will start as soon as this is complete.

The project of laying a twelve-inch main on Johnson Street West, approaching the reserve area from Victoria West with Goldstream water, will be completed at a cost in the neighborhood of $12,000.

The new line is being installed to take care of additional water consumption, being taken up in industrial use on the reserve. It will also reinforce the city's supply in the area for fire-fighting purposes, and make provision for further industrial use of water when required.

The pipe is being supplied by Evans, Coleman and Evans, and some of the valves and fittings required are being shipped here by Jenkins Brothers of Montreal.

The rapid growth of activity on the industrial reserve has been drawn to the attention of the city in a number of ways this year, including the granting of permits to a considerable total value for new plant construction. Increased water pressure was one of the main requirements of the area, the city learned, and the present project is expected to meet these requirements, with a reserve in hand for future extensions.

RIFLE MEET WILL BE HELD ON LABOR DAY

The Canadian Rifle Association will hold its annual prize shoot at the Heals Range on Monday, September 5. Shooting will commence at 9.45 a.m. at 200 yards, and will be followed by shooting at 300 and 400 yards. The D.C.R.A. silver and bronze medals will be awarded in order of merit to the marksmen making the highest aggregate scores at the three ranges. Marksmen will be divided into three classes, and cash prizes will be awarded for the best aggregate scores in each class.

A truck from Work Point Barracks will leave the corner of Yates and Douglas Streets, between 3 a.m. and 9.15 a.m. to transport marksmen and others, who have not cars of their own, to the ranges.

A suit of chain armor which required nearly two years to build and contains 50,000 separate links was recently completed in England.

THEY'RE FOOLING YOU

Some say—
"They're too cheap to be any good."
"The exercise books are small."
"The pencils are hard."
"The erasers are soft."
"The rulers are crooked."
"The paints are old."
—and all that kind of bunk. But just forget that stuff. They're just as good, or better, than those sold elsewhere.
